Father Wadding Said It Technically Sweet
Topsy-Turvy Russia
If Ill, Don't Eat

— By Arthur Brisbane —

FROM GLENAULIN, Chapelizod, County of Dublin, Ireland, comes this:

"Dear Brisbane—In a Roscommon paper this from you appears: 'His present mental attitude recalls the saying of a Democratic leader on Staten Island: "We used to have wooden ships and iron men. Now we have iron ships and wooden men."'

"This is a crib from Fr. Luke Wadding of Rome and Waterford, 300 years ago. During penal days he mourned:

"'Formerly we had priests of gold with wooden chalices. Now we get wooden priests with golden chalices.'

"I greet you well.

"T. M. HEALY."

Learn, if it can give you satisfaction, that conditions in Wall Street are "technically" much better. That won't give satisfaction to little people that were gambling gaily, a year ago. When Wall Street gets "technically" better, it means that small accounts are wiped out, little gamblers are dead and buried financially and must save up for the next foolishness.

Stocks are in "strong hands," which means that those that put them out at a high price have bought them back at a low price.

Call money lends at 1 per cent, 90-day money at 2 per cent.

Everything is charming "technically," which ought to be a lesson for little men not to gamble, but it will not be.

News that comes from Russia seems as topsy-turvy as though it came from "Alice in Wonderland."

American engineers are developing asbestos resources in Russia, adding another surprise concerning Russian resources generally.

United States engineers are operating an asbestos pit two miles wide, in a place far off from Moscow and the other centers that had 10,000 population, a short time ago, now have 55,000 population, and within two years will yield twice as much as the world's total output of asbestos in 1928. More reason for worrying about "Russian dumping."

David Belasco, brilliant producer, who has had pneumonia, is said, in spite of his advanced years, to be improving and "able to take nourishment."

His physician, if wise, will see that he takes it in liquid form and very small quantities.

Many that might recover die because loving relatives or unwise doctors insist on their taking nourishment.

A sick man is eliminating poisons. His system can't do that and absorb nourishment at the same time. Those that forget it are apt to die.

Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, who celebrated his 63rd birthday yesterday, typifies in his great personal popularity, and efficiency, the wisdom of the Catholic Church in its selection of high officials.

Cardinal Hayes was born a poor boy, in a New York city tenement house, and made his way with no help except that of his own intelligence. His selection as cardinal proves the advantage of the Catholic Church for centuries over other reigning powers.

Emperors and kings have depended for their ability on the accident of birth. Popes and cardinals have been selected regardless of birth, or its accidents, for their ability.

Railroad men, including the greatest in the United States, representing 90 per cent of all the railroads, pledged themselves yesterday to avoid cutting wages or discharging men and to employ as many more men as possible.

This they do in the face of decreased railroad earnings, an excellent example to other employers.

The League of Nations at Geneva, overruling the objections of the United States, France and Japan, decides to adopt the "Navy Budget Plan."

Under that plan each nation would be told how much money it may spend for ships. That might be hard, on the United States, especially if it applied to airplanes and submarines, since everything we get costs us much more here than it costs in Europe.

Fortunately the United States as yet is not bound by the wishes or decisions of the League of Nations, although we are doing our best to tie ourselves up in the World Court, which is the League's back door.

Lord Reading, who has been viceroy of India and represents well the intelligent British empire, tells delegates from India at the London round table conference that they cannot expect dominion status now.

Bluntly but kindly he tells representatives of 300,000,000

Father of Ohio Dry Law Declares for Beer

Columbus, O., Nov. 21 (AP)—C. C. Crabbe, father of Ohio's dry law, and former attorney-general of Ohio, today announced that he favored a modification of the Crabbe act, so as to permit the sale of light wine and beer, under strict government control.

Crabbe said enforcement of the present law in Ohio was "not satisfactory and that the people of the state had not respected the statute.

"The law has failed to promote true temperance and needed to be modified to suit the majority of the people of the state," he said, declaring, however, against any return of the saloon.

Crabbe said sale of light wines and beer could not become effective without a modification of the Volstead act and added:

"We need a statute that will more nearly meet the wishes and command the respect of the great majority of the people."

Crabbe said the recent election was indicative that "the pendulum has swung back."

State House Officials Act on Miss Connolly's Charge of "Intimidation"

State officials today entered the controversy between the Boston Central Labor Union and telephone company officials over the discharge of Miss Margaret I. Connolly, president of the Telephone Operators' Union, for advocating phone rate reductions.

While Miss Connolly and J. Arthur Moriarty, president of the Central Labor Union, were filing protest at the State House under the labor laws John P. Meade, director of industrial safety, department of labor and industries, was called into conference with telephone officials.

James T. Moriarty, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, also appeared with Miss Connolly and J. Arthur Moriarty.

With William H. O'Brien, director of the telephone division of the department of public utilities, Meade went into conference with Clarence G. McDavitt, assistant vice-president of the phone company, in charge of personnel. They met at the company office, 50 Oliver st.

After more than an hour, the State officials emerged, Meade with a statement from the company that was the same in substance as that given to the press last night. He said he would report to Gen. Sweetser, head of the Department of Labor and Industries, when he returns from Washington, tonight or tomorrow.

The press statement said Miss Connolly was discharged on account of her activity for lower rates, "embarrassing and hostile to the company."

Miss Connolly's protest was entered under sections 19 and 20

19 Jailed in Probe of Holiday Rum Plot

With 19 men under arrest, a large quantity of liquor seized and three vessels in custody, Coast Guard and Treasury Department officials here from Washington today investigated a huge conspiracy to smuggle rum into Boston and New York for the holiday trade.

Under the guns of the Coast Guard patrol boat Jackson, the tug Murrell, and the barges, Eagle Hill and Edith, were transferred at quarantine from custody of the Coast Guard to the Treasury Department agents.

The tug and its string were seized off Monhegan Island, Rockland, Me., Wednesday night, while a rum ship of British registry was transferring liquor to the Eagle Hill.

Liquor valued at $75,000 was seized on the barge and more is believed concealed under crushed stone. The British rum ship escaped when the Jackson surprised the transfer operations.

Treasury officials said the seizure disclosed a new conspiracy to land choice liquors in Boston and New York.

Only one man was aboard the Eagle Hill when she was seized. Eighteen others on the Edith and on the sea-going tug were turned over to custody of Owen McKenna, treasury agent and Thomas F. Finnegan, deputy collector of the port.

Their names will not be disclosed until they are arraigned in Federal Court here. Treasury agents came from Washington in an attempt to identify them and link them with previous illicit operations.

McKenna and Finnegan questioned each of the 19 men this morning. Later the men and the boats were to be brought to the Appraisers Stores.

N. E. PROSPERS, COUNCIL FINDS

Earnings of New England railroads this year are evidence that this section is somewhat better off than the rest of the country, President John J. Pelley of the New Haven Railroad asserted today at the sixth New England Conference at the Hotel Statler.

Prediction that the next 20 years will give this section a population of 10,000,000 and 400,000 additional industrial jobs was made earlier in the day by John F. Tinsley of Worcester, at a meeting of the New England Council committee on community development of which he is chairman.

Sanford Thompson of the Thompson & Lichtner Co. of Boston, speaking on unemployment at an industrial committee meeting, urged people who have money to spend it now for present and future needs.

He suggested buying clothing for next summer as well as for this winter, and spending idle money on such things as remodeling of homes.

He advised against reducing the output per workman as a solution of unemployment, and said the only permanent solution would be

SEEN AT FIGHT IN JERSEY ON NIGHT OF MURDER

State Inspector, Club Announcer, Manager and Boxers Testify

Prize fighters, boxing promoters and boxing officials to the number of eight testified today that Moe Neuman of Pennsylvania, charged with the murder of Samuel Reinstein in Boston, was in New Jersey on the night of the crime.

The witnesses, including Joe Powell, a fighter against whom Neuman was said to have been tentatively matched, declared he attended a boxing bout at Millville, N. J., the night of September 13, 1929.

The trial proceeded so rapidly it was decided to hold a session tomorrow morning, when final arguments will be made and the case given to the jury.

Powell corroborated the testimony of other witnesses that he refused to fight Neuman because of his superior ability, and took on Andy Bruce of Philadelphia instead.

Bruce, who was knocked out by Powell, testified he rode from Philadelphia to Millville with Neuman, and returned to the Quaker City with him after the bouts.

WITH HIM TILL 1:30 A. M.

Charles Barrott of Philadelphia, manager of Bruce, whose real name is Angelo Bruce, testified he had known the defendant four or five years. He said at 5:30 September 13, 1929, Neuman appeared at his store and with "Streetley" Reinfeldt and Bruce rode with him in his automobile to Millville, where Bruce fought Powell.

On returning, he said, he dropped Neuman at a restaurant at Second and Market sts., Philadelphia, about 1:30 a. m.

On cross-examination Barrott said he was able to recall the date because his fighter lost the bout, and his automobile had a flat shoe. He had never been in Neuman's company before or since, he said.

Bruce gave similar testimony, except he placed the time of the return to Philadelphia at between 2 and 2:30 p. m.

SEEN BY INSPECTOR.

Herbert W. Letts, a teacher in Bridgetown (N. J.) high school and state inspector of boxing, testified he attended the bouts on the night of September 13. He said he saw Neuman at 8 p. m. in a dressing room when an argument was going on as to whether he would substitute for a boxer named [illegible] son, originally matched to meet Powell.

Powell said he lives in Camden found by thorough research leading to "a new deal" in business affairs.

Governor-Elect Joseph B. Ely attended today's luncheon and sat beside Congresswoman Edith N. Rogers of Lowell.

Important action was taken by delegates representing the agricultural interests of the six states when they adopted a resolution endorsing the movement to exclude outside milk and cream from New England markets. They pledged full support in making this movement successful and permanent.

"New England's railroads during the first eight months of 1930 showed an appreciably better record than did the railroads of the country as a whole," said President Besley.

"Revenue from passenger and freight business decreased 10.9 per cent here as compared with 14.3 per cent in the United States as a whole. Our railroads managed to decrease their expenses nearly as much as the country's average.

"A fair conclusion is that the railroad revenues are relatively better in New England because of a more stable industrial situation, and that its railroads adapted themselves well to changed basin ss conditions.

BIGGER SILK INDUSTRY.

"As a result, the net railway operating income of the New England roads shows a decline of 17. per cent, which, while serious enough, is only about one-half of the decrease of 33.2 per cent for all railroads.

"You are familiar with the tremendous sums spent in rehabilitating the New England railroads. Results have proven that money was well spent.

"Personally I am an optimist as to the future of the New England railways serving as they do a rich and growing section, with industry widely diversified and with a density of population about 4 times greater than the average for the country."

Looking 20 years ahead, John G. Tinsley, industrial development committee leader, said that manufacturing will still be the section's primary economic activity, recreational industry will be increased in importance, water power will be developed and timber resources restored, adding:

"Wealth and purchasing power will always be large, and New England industry will be employing a third more workers than it is today."

He also predicted a steady growth in cotton textiles, beginning in about five years, retention of leadership in woolens, a rubber industry growing faster than in other sections, a knit goods industry building its own, with increasing emphasis on style, metals industries keeping pace with the same industries in other parts of the country and a rapid increase in rubber manufacturing.

Growth of general manufacturing, the making of many small specialties with healthy diversification of industries, he said would be the leading feature of New England's industrial progress.

WILL SUPPLY NATION

"A new phase of air transportation will develop rapidly and should prove of benefit to New England," he said.

"A higher standard of living is expected throughout the country and this will tend to increase the market for New England's quality products.

"New England has been handicapped to a certain extent in recent years by a conservatism and opposition to progressive change, which is a natural result of industrial maturity. The growing spirit of confidence and aggressiveness indicates this will be overcome.

Tinsley, a Worcester mill executive, based his report on a study made by a corporation, national in scope, which has extensive investments in this section.

At a recreational committee session, speakers declared that recreational visitors to New England would be pouring $500,000,000 into the pockets of residents of these six states by 1935. This prediction was by Ernest N. Smith, executive vice-president of the American Automobile Association.

New England's recreational property is assessed at $350,000,000 and the annual land value thereon total $15,000,000 said Col. William A. Barron, chairman of this committee. The assessment figures were for houses and land only, and only 21 per cent were hotels and camps, the remainder being summer homes.

MEANS WAVE OF WORK

Business men were urged by several speakers to spend money for construction now and L. C. Mason, president of the Aberthaw Co., of Boston, declared that production of materials which go into construction puts 3000 different business activities into motion.

L. W. Simms, president of T. S. Simms & Co., Ltd., of St. John, N. B., and past president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Assn., speaking at the general session, expressed the hope that co-operation between this country and Canada will reach into all lines of business and other endeavor. He said his country did not plan retaliation for tariff barriers.

LITVINOFF HITS ENTIRE ARMS PROGRAM

Soviet Will Never Approve Permanent League Supervision, He Asserts

Geneva, Nov. 21 (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, expressed his government's broad disapproval of proceedings in the preparatory disarmament commission at today's session of that body here.

Litvinoff's reproaches were hurled when the commission, after completing the second reading of the main body of its draft convention, began consideration of proposals for establishment of a permanent disarmament commission for direction of a disarmament program under any general treaty which may be concluded.

SOLEMN WARNING

The Soviet foreign minister served solemn warning that such a supervisory body would be entirely unacceptable to the Soviet government if it were under control of the League of Nations.

Prior to his flareup the commission approved a method of global budgetary limitation of all armaments and armed forces, Ambassador Gibson and N. Sato opposing for the United States and Japan respectively, the only governments to do so.

GIBSON UNRECORDED

A project for limiting each arm of fighting service separately by the budgetary method was rejected, 8 to 7. Mr. Gibson abstained from voting.

The commission postponed to a third reading debate on the section dealing with chemical warfare. The first reading of the draft prohibits the use in war of asphyxiating, poisonous or similar gasses and also analagous substances or processes. It forbids also the employment of germs.

DO-X BUILDER UNDECIDED ON OCEAN HOP

Dr. Dornier Will Not Decide on Plans Until Airliner Reaches Lisbon

Bordeaux, France, Nov. 21 —"Please say for me that the Atlantic flight of the DO-X is neither off nor on. I have made no decision either one way or the other, nor will I do so until the landing at Lisbon."

That statement was made by Dr. Claude Dornier, designer and builder of the giant airliner, just before he boarded his ship at La Roque De Thau, 25 miles from here, for the fourth stage of the projected transatlantic flight.

If the DO-X attempts the Atlantic in December, present indications seem to point to the strong probability that the flight will be made across the South Atlantic, via the Canary Islands, Cape Verde Islands, and Fernando Noronha, off the coast of Brazil.

Wind and Clouds Hold DO-X at Santander

Santander, Spain, Nov. 21 (AP)—Cloudy skies and a high wind caused the DO-X, German seaplane, to remain anchored off shore here this morning. Unless the weather improves it was regarded as improbable that the plane would resume its flight to Corunna today.

Eight Persons Testify for Neuman Alibi

N. J., and is a radio inspector as well as being a pugilist. He told of the Bruce-Neuman fight of Sept. 13, and that Neuman was the first substitute for Jackson. He said he met Neuman before the bouts.

"He was too good a boy then for me to meet," he explained as his reason for refusing to fight Neuman.

He said he had seen Neuman previously in gymnasiums, and was afraid to take a chance with him.

SAW NEUMAN IN RING.

Powell said he was trying to build up a reputation and when told Bruce was not such a good fighter, agreed to take him on. He was present when Neuman was introduced from the ring.

Under cross-examination, the witness said he saw Neuman fight Mickey Diamond at the Cambria Club in Philadelphia two or three months previously.

James S. Steinman of Millville, N. J., testified he is a mechanical draftsman and fight announcer. He said he announced the bouts in Millville on the night of the murder, and met Neuman in a dressing room at 8:30 p. m.

He said he introduced Neuman from the ring before the last bout which started between 10 and 10:15 p. m. The witness said he last saw Neuman around 11 p. m.

Harry G. Gibson of Bridgetown, N. J., matchmaker for the Millville A. C., testified that on the night of Sept. 13, 1929, his club had scheduled a boxing bout between Larry Nash and Al Powell.

Jackson, he said, hurt his hand the day before the bout, and the witness telephoned to Al Nash in Philadelphia for a substitute. On the night of Sept. 13, he said, Nash appeared at the Arena with Neuman as the substitute, and he identified the defendant as the substitute.

The witness said he talked with Neuman between 7:30 and 8 p. m., saw him when the third bout started, and heard Announcer Steelman announce him from the ring. He said he last saw Neuman that night at 11:30.

Gibson said that Powell refused to fight Neuman and Andy Bruce went on instead.

MORE CORROBORATION

Albert Nash of 802 S. Second st., Philadelphia, a trainer and manager of boxers, testified he saw Neuman at 5:30 p. m. on September 13, when the defendant appeared at his home. He said they went by automobile with others, including Andy Bruce, also a boxer, by automobile to Millville, leaving between 5:45 and 6 p. m., and arriving around 7:30.

The witness said they remained at Millville until 11:30 and he last saw Neuman in Philadelphia at 1:30 the following morning.

Edward P. Smith, of Millville, owner of the Millville A. C., testified he saw Neuman at 7:30 p. m. of Sept. 13, 1929 at the arena, and again at 8 in a dressing room where he was called as a result of an argument. Neuman was on the scales, the witness said, and the argument was over his weight and boxing ability.

HEARD ANNOUNCEMENT

He said that Powell had refused to fight Neuman, and Bruce was matched with him instead. Both Neuman and Bruce had been brought from Philadelphia by Nash, he testified. The witness said he saw Neuman at 10 o'clock when he was introduced from the ring and again at 11:30.

Smith described the announcement from the ring, the witness testified the state announcer said: "Mose Neuman of Philadelphia who will appear in this ring in two or three weeks."

"Did he appear?" Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle asked.

"No," the witness replied.

He explained in response to questions that he authorized the announcement after his matchmaker had asked if he could use Neuman, who he said was a good fighter.

REGISTERED TWO AUTOS.

Robert I. Schaffer of the Pennsylvania highway department took the stand and produced registration applications of Moe and "Jack" Neuman, who he agreed by counsel that Jack Neuman was Jeff Neuman.

The witness testified that on Dec. 4, 1929, Jack Neuman made application for registration of a Ford coupe, 1928 model, and was assigned plates numbered 368-394. On Dec. 28, 1929, he said Moe Neuman applied for registration of a Jordan sedan and was given plates numbered 369-397.

The first defense witness was Phil Glassman of Philadelphia, manager of Benny Bass, who testified that Moe Neuman assisted in preparing Bass for a fight scheduled for September 13, 1929 over a period of 17 or 18 days in Philadelphia. The witness said Neuman was a boxer whom he had managed, that his nose had been broken in several places and he has "tin" ears.

Atty. Harry G. Felger of Philadelphia began the opening argument for the defense when court convened shortly after nine o'clock.

Testimony that Clerk Billings of Hotel Huntington, who identified Neuman as an occupant of room 209, had previously made similar identifications of other men was given by members of the Boston police department.

Inspector James R. Claffin, Special Officer William Bonner and Sergt. John J. Maguire said Billings after the murder identified photographs of Mickey Rocco and Steve O'Donnell as occupants of room 209. Later, according to Claflin, the clerk picked from a lineup at police headquarters a newspaperman as one of the two men who registered at the Huntington the Wednesday before the crime.

The sections read:

"No person shall by intimidation or force, prevent a person from entering into or continuing in the employment of any person."

"No person shall himself or by his agents, coerce or compel a person into a written or oral agreement not to join or become a member of a labor organization as a condition of securing employment or continuing in the employment of such a person."

The possibility of a strike was frowned on at present by union officials, who still expressed hope of securing Miss Conolly's reinstatement.

PLANS COURT APPEAL

It was learned today that her discharge has been discussed by the executive committee of the labor union and will be placed before that body at their Dec. 7 meeting. Union officials admitted that the body would have power to call a strike of operators and affiliated workers if the affair was not satisfactorily adjusted.

Miss Connolly told the Boston Evening American today that she had been "discriminated against by the company" and "was a victim of circumstances."

She indicated that she would seek court action if an adverse decision were rendered by the State Board of Labor and Industries.

Miss Connolly admitted her connection with the petition, was asked to resign and, refused. Her discharge followed after a a day "to think the matter over."

Miss Connolly, who lives at 340 Bowdoin st., Dorchester, ended 15 years of service with the company when she was discharged. She was a supervisor until the strike of 1918 when she was reduced to operator.

Raw Beef for That Shiner Said 'Doc' in 1500 B. C.

London, Nov. 21 (INS)—"Papyrus Ebers," the world's first medical book, written in Egypt in 1500 B. C., has just been translated and published in English.

The book prescribes treatment for anything from headaches to crocodile bite. Even raw beef for a black eye.

According to this ancient doctor, there is but one cure for a headache, it is a mixture of onion juice, fruit of the am tree, patron, set-seft seeds, the cooked bone of a swordfish, the cooked skull of a crawfish, honey and ibex ointment.

If the headache became worse the patient was instructed to apply an ointment made of poppy seeds and hippotamus hide, or, poppy berries beaten up in donkey's fat.

To prevent excessive eyebrows there were any number of cures claimed to be "certain." One was ox-fat, olive oil and the brains of a mole.

Jamaica Plain Man Faces Death Charge

Frank J. McLaughlin of Brookside ave., Jamaica Plain, alleged driver of a car in which Harold Stimson of Everett st., Jamaica Plain, was killed last night, was arraigned in municipal court today charged with manslaughter, operating dangerously, operating while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident without identifying himself.

Special Officer William J. O'Connor told the court McLaughlin was driving at 40 miles an hour in Albany st. when the automobile hit a pole.

MacArthur Takes Over Post of Army Chief

Washington, Nov. 21 (INS)—Douglas MacArthur, youngest major general in the Army, today took over the post of chief of staff, succeeding General Charles P. Summerall, whose term expired yesterday, and assumed the temporary rank of general.

His colorful career has won him acclaim as a dashing and efficient soldier. He is 50. His father was the late Lieut.-Gen. Arthur MacArthur.

MacArthur commanded the famous Rainbow division in the World War, and won the Distinguished Service Cross and the Distinguished Service Medal with citations for extraordinary bravery and valor.

Quebec, Montreal Hail Boyd and Connor

Quebec, Nov. 21 (AP)—Canada's conqueror of the Atlantic by air, Capt. J. Errol Boyd, and his American navigator, Lieut. Harry P. Connor, sailed up the St. Lawrence River today on the liner Duchess of Bedford to the tune of welcomes home.

Hardly had the liner, bringing home the pair who flew the monoplane Columbia from Canada to the British Isles, docked at Quebec last night before Capt. Boyd's wife and daughter were aboard.

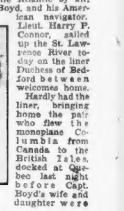

Mrs. Boyd,

City officials welcomed Boyd and Lieut. Connor to Quebec. When the liner debarked again it carried the fliers on toward Montreal, where another rousing welcome awaits.

Alice Neilson Awarded Divorce From Stoddard

New York, Nov. 21—Alice Neilson, noted diva, who first won fame as a star in the old Boston Opera Co., has been awarded a divorce from Dr. La Roy Sturgis Stoddard, plastic surgeon.

Dr. Stoddard first met the opera singer when he removed a mole from her chin. Miss Neilson, now retired from the opera, won her freedom in the Manhattan Supreme Court, after presenting witnesses to testify on the apartment of her husband.

She was granted a $40,000 settlement and $325 monthly alimony.

Queen, Two Daughters, Returning to Spain

London, Nov. 21—The Queen of Spain and her two daughters, the Infantas Beatrice and Maria Christina, are leaving today for Spain after a visit of several weeks.

No little concern was expressed by their relatives and friends in royal circles over the unsettled situation which they'll find on their return to their country. During the past week lives have been lost during general strikes in Barcelona and the rule of "Long Live the Revolution" have been freely uttered.

STATE OFFICIALS MAKE PLEA TO DEPORT FIVE ALIEN FIREBUGS

'Miss Europe' Visits N. Y.

"MISS EUROPE 1930," otherwise Miss Alice Diplaracou, beautiful native from Sparta, Greece, is welcomed to New York by Mayor Walker at City Hall. After extending the city's greetings, his honor informed his fair visitor that, with the exception of herself, all beautiful women live in New York. (International Newsreel photo.)

AID OF U. S. AGENTS IS SOUGHT

State Fire Marshal Reth Proposes Deportation as the "Surest Remedy"

A move to deport five unnaturalized residents of Massachusetts, all serving time for arson, was started today by Dr. A. Warren Stearns, commissioner of correction, at the request of State Fire Marshal John W. Reth.

This is the first time that a state fire marshal has resorted to such drastic action to stamp out this kind of crime.

The names of the convicted men were furnished to Dr. Stearns in strict confidence, but their descriptions and other data, released for publication, follows:

No. 1. Burning a building. Burning goods to defraud. False proof of loss and larceny by false sentence. Committed at Woburn, March 3, 1930. Pleaded guilty on all counts and was sentenced on May 5, 1930, to 18 months in the House of Correction. Described as follows: Age, 25; height, 5 feet 5 inches; weight, 135; black hair, brown eyes; leather worker by trade; married and has five children; Italian.

No. 2—Burning a building and goods to defraud the insurer. Committed at Revere April 9, 1930. Found guilty and sentenced on June 30, 1930, to two and one-half to four years at State Prison. Described as follows: Age 45; height five feet seven inches; weight 160; dark brown hair; dark brown eyes; pushcart proprietor; married; no children; Italian.

No. 3—Burning goods to defraud the insurer. Committed at 532-A Tremont st. Boston, March 2, 1930. Was found guilty and sentenced on June 3, 1930, to Concord Reformatory. Described as follows: Age 26; height five feet seven inches; weight 157; light brown hair; blue eyes; haberdasher; single; Russian.

MARLBORO CASE

No. 4. Accessory before the fact to burning the building of another and burning goods to injure the insurer. Committed at Marlboro Sept. 29, 1930. Pleaded guilty and sentenced Oct. 30, 1930, to 3 to 5 years at State Prison. Described as follows: Age 43; height 5 feet, 8 inches; weight 150; soft drink maker by trade; married and has two children; Armenian.

No. 5. Burning the building of another and burning goods to injure the insurer. Committed at Marlboro Sept. 29, 1930. Pleaded guilty and sentenced Oct. 30, 1930, to 2½ to 3½ years at State Prison. Described as follows: Age 53; height 5 feet, 5 inches; weight 150; gray hair; merchant; single; Armenian

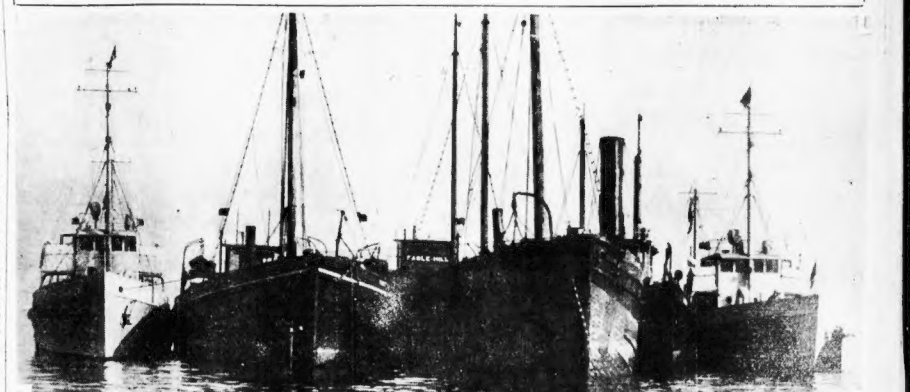

SURE REMEDY

Dr. Stearns will ask Immigration Commissioner Anna C. M. Tillinghast for deportation warrants.

In asking for deportation, the fire marshal declared that he knew of no surer method of striking at the heart of "this nefarious business of burning buildings" than by putting every obstacle in the way of would-be perpetrators.

"I wish you would take immediate steps to investigate these cases and ask the immigration commissioner, Mrs. Tillinghast, for deportation warrants so that these persons who have come to this country and have not been naturalized, and who go about burning buildings and committing similar heinous crimes will be sent back without delay to the land from where they came," the marshal stated.

Sea-Going Rum Fleet Falls Victim to Alert Coast Guardsmen

LIQUID HOLIDAY CHEER, valued at thousands of dollars, fell into the hands of coast guardsmen working out of Boston when the patrol boats Jackson and Antietam seized the ocean-going tug Murrel of New York and the barges Edith and Eagle Hill 10 miles south of Rockland, Me. The tug and two barges were convoyed to a position in the lower harbor off quarantine, where searchers started going through the cargo. The liquor is to be moved to the government appraisers' stores and the ships to the army base. Here are the two coast guard craft flanking their seizure at quarantine.

NEW TAX BOARD TAKES OFFICE

Governor Allen today administered the oath of office to the new board of tax appeals of which Alexander Holmes, deputy tax commissioner, is chairman, and John D. Wright, the governor's secretary, and Alexander Lincoln, former assistant attorney-general, members.

The new board immediately went into executive session and elected George K. Pond, of Greenfield, former State Senator, as clerk.

Some Prime Beef From Gored Ox

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Whose billion did England borrow from France?

If it belonged to France why was France hollering wolf?

Looks like France has been crying with a loaf of bread under its arm.

Europe said it would pay its war debts if it took forever. Looks like it will.

When you borrow from Peter to pay Paul you are only taking on a new sparring partner.

How about that golden cabbage France borrowed from us?

We are at least entitled to smell it cooking.

How about that old gent known to Europe as Uncle Shylock?

That was us. Is the bunion in the other shoe now?

When England pays France will France pay us?

Or do we grab the brass ring and go for another whirl?

State Rum System Urged by du Pont

Bridgeport, Ct., Nov. 21 (AP)—Distribution of liquor by private corporations under supervision of a state liquor commission appointed by the governor was advocated last night by Pierre S. Du Pont, of the National Association Against the Amendment in an address to the Connecticut League of Woman voters.

Willis J. Abbot, of the Christian Science Monitor, said observance rather than enforcement was prohibition's chief problem.

1 DEAD IN NEW SPANISH RIOTS

Barcelona, Spain, Nov. 21 (AP)—One man was killed and four were injured today as rioting broke out anew between striking workmen, the police and a group of strikebreakers.

The clash took place in one of the industrial suburbs where disorders have continued for the past two days despite strike headquarters' orders that a general strike be discontinued.

Today's riot occurred unexpectedly as police were escorting the strikebreakers to their places of employment.

Permit Sought for Lechmere Sq. Subway

Permission of the Legislature is asked by Frank J. Eigabroadt of 3 Cameron ave., Somerville, to allow the City of Somerville to construct a subway from Lechmere sq. to Arlington Center by way of Union sq., Davis sq. and Teele sq., in a bill filed today at the State House.

To meet the cost of the undertaking the city would be authorized to issue bonds up to $1,000,000 over a 30-year period.

Hoover Asked to Rush Bonus for Soldiers

New York, Nov. 21 (US)—The following telegram has been sent to President Hoover by John Hartnet, general commander Army and Navy Union of the United States of America:

"The Army and Navy Union, U. S. A., is officially requesting that you help relieve the stringent financial condition throughout the country by lending favorable consideration towards cashing at this time the Soldier Bonus Certificates.

"This cash value money in circulation now will be of infinitely more value to service men than at some future time.

"Conditions are urgent and necessitate speedy action.

"Cashing these bonus certificates will relieve conditions among several millions of men and their families and also benefit immensely the country at large."

Three Killed When Train Hits Auto

Detroit, Nov. 21 (AP)—At least three persons were killed last night when a Michigan Central passenger train struck an automobile at a crossing in Ecorse, Detroit suburb.

Three bodies were found. Two other bodies are believed to have been carried by the locomotive over a trestle and to have fallen into Ecorse creek.

Coast Guard Shells Halt Rum Speed Boat

New London, Conn., Nov. 21 (AP)—The Happy Parrot, with a load of choice liquors estimated at 400 cases, and a crew of three men aboard, was captured last night in Block Island Sound, by a coast guard patrol boat.

Her capture occurred after an eight-mile chase. A shell from a one-pound gun crashed into her low deckhouse, tearing out a side of the structure.

GUARDIAN FOR FATHER ASKED

Springfield, Nov. 21 (AP)—Charles D. Rood, millionaire, who next month will be 90 years old, is in probate court today while his daughter, Mrs. Gladys (Rood) Williams, wife of Attorney William H. Williams of Washington, commissioner of internal revenue under the Wilson administration, told the court that after a conference with her father's secretary she had instructed his attorney in September to take action to conserve her father's property.

Rood, former president of the Hamilton Watch Co. and owner of real estate in 37 cities in the United States, today also filed an objection to the allowance of the will of his wife, Caroline, who died three weeks ago.

Mrs. Rood made no provision for a bequest to him because she said he had abundant means of his own. Mr. Rood would waive that will and if this is done he will be entitled to a third of her estate.

Dexter Rood, a son, filed the petition for conservator.

Paris Show—No Girls

Paris, Nov. 21 (AP)—The most popular show in Paris these days has no girlie features whatsoever. It's a political satire representing Lafayette uttering warnings about material things.

CAPTAIN TELLS OF SHIP RESCUE

New York, Nov. 21—"The water was knee deep in the engineroom and the Ovidia rolled and wallowed in mid-Atlantic. As the water slowly gained we thought she would topple over at any minute," said Capt. Alex Carlson today.

The master of the sunken Swedish freighter with his wife and crew, arrived on the Mauretania today.

The Ovidia left New Orleans on October 27 laden with lumber and coal.

"On Monday she began taking water," Capt. Carlson said. "We hunted for the leak, but we could not find it. Gradually the water got higher and the cargo began to shift.

"Tuesday morning she began to shift to port and we spent all that afternoon and night shoveling coal to right her. Suddenly she shifted to starboard and didn't come back.

"The Endicott answered our call first. She said she was only 75 miles away. Then we heard from the Mauretania and the America. Both of them were running. The Mauretania came first.

"I thought we were gone—I even kissed my wife good-bye."

"Was Mrs. Carlson scared?" He was asked.

"No, she was not frightened."

The Mauretania's passengers at a benefit concert last night collected $800 to be divided among Capt. Carlson and his crew.

Clement W. Andrews, Harvard '79, Dead

Clement Walker Andrews, Harvard '79, former resident of Salem, died yesterday in Chicago. He was associated with the chemistry department at Harvard until 1887, and came into prominence during the investigation of Boston's water supply in 1895.

He suffered a stroke three years ago. His only survivor is a brother, Dr. Joseph Andrews of Bergenwood, N. J.

U. S. Judge Threatens to Release Rum Boat

Providence, R. I., Nov. 21—Federal Judge Ira Lloyd Letts today allowed U. S. Atty. Henry M. Boss, Jr., until Tuesday to move for condemnation of the British motor boat Mazel-Tow. If that action is not taken Judge Letts will order the craft released. The captain contends the boat was outside of the 12-mile limit when captured.

Mother of 3 Kills 210-Pound Buck

Laconia, N. H., Nov. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Dow received the envious glances of local nimrods today when she returned from a hunting trip with a 210-pound buck. She made her kill with a single shot in the Moosehead Lake, Maine region. Mrs. Dow, 35, is the mother of three children.

Anne Lindbergh Keeps Her Child Training Ideas Secret

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—Any curiosity as to the contents of Mrs. Lindbergh's notes of a lecture on the training of a preschool child probably will remain unsatisfied.

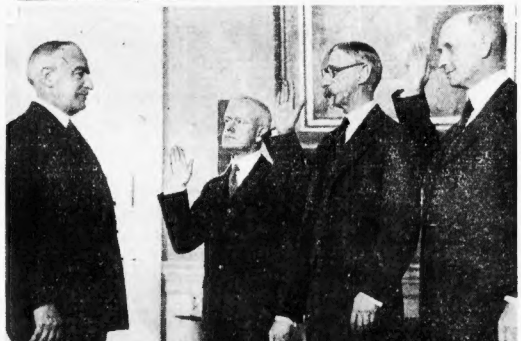

At any rate, her pencil was busy when it was set forth among other things that the average child of four years is likely to have from one to four spankings a month.

NORRIS WARNS CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—Senator Norris advanced a legislative program today along with a warning that unless it was considered an extra session of Congress might be forced.

The Nebraskan, a Republican Independent, termed the election results a "repudiation of the administration."

Norris' measures include Government operation of Muscle Shoals, the bill to Curb powers of courts in issuing injunctions in labor disputes, unemployment relief and the lame duck constitutional amendment to change the meeting times of Congress.

"I don't want an extra session," he said. "If there is an extra session it will be brought on because the administration won't give consideration to matters which either are in conference or on the Senate calendar."

Southern Banks in 'Sound Condition'

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 21 (AP)—Eugene A. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank, said today.

"With resources of approximately ten billion dollars in southern banks there should be confidence that fundamentally our banking situation is sound.

"We have just harvested our various crops. All of these crops were large and yielded large cash returns. Our industries are on a sound basis and their products yield a cash return twice as large as our agricultural products. Our problem of unemployment is probably less acute than in any other section."

Bankruptcy Bill Beats Out Auto Suit

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Money judgments allotted to the victims of negligent automobile drivers may be wiped out by voluntary bankruptcy, Supreme Court Justice Fawcett, of Brooklyn, has ruled.

The decision was handed down against Miss Gladslyn Ritcher, 17, who received a verdict of $35,454 as the result of injuries incurred when she was struck by an automobile driven by John E. Halleran. Halleran was adjudged a bankrupt three days after the verdict was returned, and later was discharged from bankruptcy.

$20 Saved Tunney From Damage Suit

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—There has come from Gene Tunney revelation of the forestalling of a suit for damages against him. A $20 bill did it.

Addressing the Stockhlies School Alumni Association, he said that in his early days of boxing he fought in an exhibition at the school and was forthwith threatened with suit because of his opponent's loss of teeth. Cash from a friend of Tunney satisfied his opponent.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Shackleton, widow of Sir Ernest Shackleton, the explorer, will visit the Antarctic Circle next January, it was announced today. She will be a passenger on a yacht which will stop at Byrd's camp in Little America. Lieut.-Comdr. J. R. Stenhouse, Shackleton's navigator in his Antarctic expedition of 1914-15, will command. Countess Dorothy Lanesborough will be aboard.

Brockton Woman, 84, Loses $130 From Her Stocking at Party

Brockton, Nov. 21—A social obligation to attend a whist party cost Mrs. Mary Sayers, 84, of Warren ave. $130.

She told police that yesterday she drew the money from a bank to pay her taxes and last night had to attend a whist, so placed the bankroll in one of her stockings, which had a run in it.

When she returned home she discovered the run had grown into a large opening and the $130 was gone.

Search of the hall where the whist took place was fruitless.

Eleven Indicted in Federal Dope Probe

Eleven indictments and several secret indictments were returned today by the federal grand jury in a partial report to Judge James A. Lowell in Federal Court.

All 11 indictments charged violation of the narcotic laws. Those indicted were: Arthur I. Smith of Somerville, Joseph Rossie of Malden, Sadie Hayes of Reading, Fred Carslin of Somerville; Loretta Chin and Harry Yee of Boston, Irene Warrington Wong, "Queen of Chinatown"; James Russell of Boston, Anthony Giarizzo, Ernest Holden and Mar Toy Ann, all of Boston.

Safe Robbers Loot Medway Coal Co.

Medway, Nov. 21 (AP)—Burglars who forced a window entrance to the office of the Medway Coal & Grain Co. during the night, blew open the safe, containing $300, and obtained a small amount of money from the cash drawer.

SHOUSE WARNS DEMOCRATS

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 21—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, believes the possibilities of benefit to the country are incalculable, "if the spirit of co-operation asked in the recent statement of Democratic leaders is carried out."

This view was expressed in a statement issued here before he left for Washington. Declaring the United States "is in the midst of a very critical and trying period," and saying the present situation is "almost as serious" as in time of war, he called on members of both Republican and Democratic parties to meet it with constructive measures.

Shouse said Democratic success in the recent election "is not so much a victory as an opportunity." He predicted the party would elect the next President and control Congress in 1932 "if the party conducts itself with judgment and sense and patriotism during the next 18 months."

'This Is Not a Wake,' Last Joke of Dancing Jack

This story of Jack Donahue's life ends all too suddenly. But the curtain was drawn by the Master of All Things. Jack is gone, but as Wm. Brooks concludes: "His show went on. The show always goes on. But out of the theater, when he left it, went something clean and fine and inspirational, that cannot be replaced."

By WIN BROOKS

SO THE GATE to fame swung wide and Jack Donahue, unspoiled, passed through it. He rode the wave crest on the tide at flood and was never to know the turn of tide that comes in the life of every ride: if death spares him.

With fame came a multitude of opportunities. Ambitious for his wife and children, ambitious for the Donahues of Charlestown, ambitious for Charlestown, he took them in stride, his blue eyes dancing with his feet, happy in his work.

He knew that no man rides the crest forever and so he passed up no opportunities that it was humanely possible for him to embrace.

He wrote a play with Philip Dunning. He collaborated with Jack Boyle in the opening of a Broadway dancing school. He produced plays with Bobby Connolly, George Choos and Arthur Swanstrom. He rewrote "Princess Charming." He wrote librettos for a half-dozen producers. And all the time he kept on dancing.

"I'm All Right, Ma"
His Wife Never Knew

Out of "Sunny" into "Rosalie"; out of "Rosalie" into "Sons o' Guns," formerly "Tin Hats," dancing alone on a long Broadway run.

And, all the time, too, his devotion to his wife and children, to his mother and brothers and sisters, to the old gang in Boston, never waned. He kept up his contacts. He burned himself out.

He went out of New York with "Sons o' Guns" on a milk diet. He jumped into Boston to smooth over "Princess Charming" before the premiere, and all the while he was here a blinding headache never left him.

Into Charlestown he went to visit with his mother, have supper with her. Up to police headquarters to call on Supt. Michael H. Crowley, always a dear friend, and to dance for him and joke with him.

"You're not looking well, Jack," said his mother.

"I'm all right, mother, just a little tired," he said. "Pretty soon I'll take a rest."

He never told her of those headaches, never told his wife that some days he danced with a blood pressure of nearly 200 pounding at his temples. Never told the "super" he was sick.

Into Cincinnati he went for the full opening of "Sons o' Guns" before a crowded house. Gracious and without show, as always, he took his encores. His dancing feet and his everlasting smile masked a world of pain.

The doctors warned him he was flirting with death. The show went on. Jack Donahue continued to dance.

His Last Dance
A Smile Hides His Pain

He danced for the last time in the Shubert Theater that afternoon of Sept. 24 last. To the audience he was the same old Jack Donahue. They could not see behind his mask to the pain that racked him. They could not see beyond his beloved grin to the leer of Death—Death keeping time there with him as he danced.

The curtain fell on that matinee and Jack Donahue fell, too. They carried him to his dressing room. Doctors examined him and one said:

"You better go home, old man."

He knew the doctor meant he would never dance again.

His answer was the same as he had given 22 years before, when he landed at Halifax to leave the theater at which he was to play had just burned down.

"Let's go," he said.

He left Cincinnati that night. The next day, slighting from the train in New York, he could hardly walk. He was driven directly home to Central Park West and his wife and children. Doctors wanted him to go to a hospital.

"No," he said, "let me stay here with Gus an' the kids. I'll be all right."

His mother and Mrs. Hookway, his sister, went from Boston to be with him. On his back, in bed, he wisecracked and joked with them and sent them back home, believing he would soon rejoin his show.

"What's the idea? This is no wake," he said.

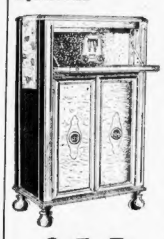

Only his wife and a few of his closest friends knew how sick he really was. Trouper to the end, he died on the morning of October 1. Five days after his last dance, the crest of the wave engulfed him.

His old mother, who had made many sacrifices to Broadway, made one more and consented that he should be buried in New York. At St. Malachi's Church—the actor's chapel—around the corner from Broadway, the world he loved paid him a magnificent tribute as the last curtain fell.

His show went on. The show always goes on. But out of the theater, when he left it, went something clean and fine and inspirational that cannot be replaced.

Society Girls Show Latest Styles

ANNE DICK ELIZABETH DONHAM PEGGY READ

MISS ANNE DICK, Miss Elizabeth Donham and Miss Peggy Read are three of the attractive maidens who demonstrated the latest fall street costumes at the Florence Crittenton Bazaar yesterday afternoon and evening. A bevy of society girls assisted in various ways to help this worthy cause and to work for their initiation into the Junior League, of which they are for the moment only provisional members.

Grand Duchess Marie in Copley-Plaza Lecture

THE PRINCESS MATCHABELLI, who accompanies the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia on her trip to Boston today, will be remembered as the famous Italian beauty who alternated with Lady Diana Manners in the leading part of "The Miracle." The Grand Duchess and the Princess are to be guests of Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth at her home, 191 Marlborough st., at luncheon after the Grand Duchess' lecture, under the auspices of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, at the Copley-Plaza at 11 o'clock, her subject being "My Escape from Russia — and Since." Miss Ruth Blake, Miss Cynthia Waters, Miss Jane Brown, Miss Mary Fish, Miss Betty Bird, Miss Ellen DeNormandie, Miss Elizabeth Wells, Miss Barbara Young, Miss Martha Means and Miss Betty Scott are in the group of provisional members of the Junior League ushering at the lecture.

A DISPLAY OF CHINESE IMPORTS, especially chosen in the Orient by a friend of the League, were exhibited today in the foyer of the Copley-Plaza by a committee from the Cambridge League which includes Mrs. Stanley Bruce Elwell, Mrs. John Radford Abbott, Mrs. Robert Fiske Bradford, Mrs. Dudley Clapp and Mrs. Endicott Marean. Other members of the Cambridge League assisting as supplementary ushers, include Mrs. Charles Almy, Jr., Mrs. Mason Ham, Mrs. Stanley Lawton, Mrs. Henry Spelman, Jr., Mrs. M. J. Simmons, Mrs. Thomas W. Little, Mrs. Chandler Gifford, Mrs. Robert Baldwin, Mrs. E. H. Hewitt, Mrs. Rufus Frost Hale, Mrs. Robert T. P. Storer, Mrs. Ralph Beatley, Mrs. E. J. Cohn and Mrs. Robert G. Henderson. One of the last surviving Romanoffs, this granddaughter of Czar Alexander II, and cousin of the ill-fated Nicholas, told of her own tragic experiences followin g the Russian revolution and those of her family.

Women's City Club Hears Birth Control Leader

By NANCY BREWSTER

Social service should no longer stand aside from birth control, but should make it an essential part of its program.

This was the message of Mrs. Robert L. Jones, president of the American Birth Control League, to the members of the Women's City Club, at a luncheon-meeting in her honor yesterday.

Speaking on "Birth Control and Social Service," Mrs. Jones maintained that "social service should be guided by science. The way to improve the race is for people of good natural traits to have more children, while people less fortunately endowed to have small numbers.

DEPENDENCY INCREASED

Continuing, she said:

"No compulsion is necessary for experience shows that the women of the poorest classes are glad to take advantage of the information available. We have the knowledge, we have the machinery, all we need to do is make it available to these people. With all the money spent on social work in recent years, we have no decline in dependency. In fact, in Massachusetts there has been increase in dependency of over 29 per cent in the past decade.

"Social service agencies are backward in their refusal to give support to birth control as a method of race improvement," said Mrs. Jones after citing the recent endorsements by the Congregational, Unitarian and Universalist churches, the Jewish leaders, and in a limited sense by the Lambeth Conference, to the movement.

"I have chosen the subject of birth control because so many Boston women are leaders in social service," Mrs. Jones concluded.

STATUTES NOT CLEAR

Mrs. Oakes Ames, president of the Massachusetts Birth Control League and a guest of the Women's City Club at the luncheon, speaking on the legal situation of the issue in the Commonwealth, said it had been "generally misunderstood." The statutes are not clear in wording and have been generally misinterpreted.

"We are very fortunate in having here in Massachusetts a large group of physicians who feel indignant over this situation and the hampering of their usefulness to their patients. They want the law changed and they propose to petition the legislature to pass an amendment clarifying the sections which are ambiguous. When they take such action they merit the admiration and support of every woman in the state.

"We shall owe them everlasting gratitude because their action in this matter is without thought of profit to themselves. On the contrary, they put themselves to a great deal of trouble and open themselves to criticism and possibly unpleasant notoriety from misinterpretation of their motives by those who can only see one side of this question and are blind to the suffering and need of those around them."

Miss Frances Curtis presided.

SECRET POLL TO LIST CRIME

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Details of their experiences with racketeers are to be sought from the merchants of the nation's largest cities by the national crime commission.

J. Weston Allen of Boston, chairman of the commission, has written County District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, offering to co-operate by a secret poll. The commission is a private organization which has many public officials as members.

Forty prominent citizens met with Mr. Crain behind closed doors and pledged themselves to convene again Tuesday to form a permanent committee.

Mr. Crain told the group:

"Your task is the destruction of racketeer rule, a present evil and a growing evil. It is the domination of organized lawlessness over legitimate business."

"I Feel Like a New Person"

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was tired, nervous and rundown. I saw the advertisement and decided to try it because I was hardly able to do my housework. It has helped me in every way. My nerves are better, I have a good appetite, I sleep well and I do not tire so easily. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other women for it gives me so much strength and makes me feel like a new person."—Mrs. Lena Young, R. # 1, Ellsworth, Maine.

Helping Hand Saves Destitute Family From Eviction

Through the efforts of the Boston Evening American Helping Department, a Roxbury family was saved from eviction from their one-room home, and the husband was given employment.

There are three in this family. The husband, the wife, and a seven-months' old baby. The husband has been out of work for seven months. Yesterday they faced eviction. They had no place to go. They had no money. They appealed to the Boston American Helping Hand.

Today the husband has employment and the landlord has agreed to wait for his rent. Several charitable persons donated a suit for the man, an overcoat for the wife, and clothes for the baby.

Everyone can help. Many of these pitiful cases keep pouring into the Helping Hand Department. The appeals are increasing daily. The need for clothing, fuel, food, etc., cannot be emphasized too strongly. The Boston Evening American, acting as a "middleman," has assisted many throughout Greater Boston.

Help make some destitute family happy. If you have any clothing, or articles to offer call the Helping Hand Editor of the Boston Evening American, Liberty 4000.

Some of the appeals received today are:

NINE NEED CLOTHING
(Refer to Case 34)

Will you kindly help us in getting some clothes for my children as my husband is getting small pay. There are nine in the family, the oldest girl is not working and it is hard times for us.

We have to pay $25 rent a month and sometimes we have to be without anything, only tea and bread. I will be satisfied if I can only get clothing for the children—as for myself, I will be all right as I won't have to go out, and the children have to go to school and the baby needs warm clothing for the cold weather. He is 18 months' old and is very delicate.

I am trying to manage the money on meals and pay bills and don't have a cent to buy anything myself. I don't want the children to suffer because they are innocent and are not to blame. Maybe, some day, I will sit on top of the world and will be able to repay back some kind deed which is done for me today. I have two Boston terriers for sale, a good pedigreed male, four months old. If I could sell them to help pay my bills I will gladly sell them reasonably.

This family lives in Roslindale. Aid can be given them by calling the Boston Evening American Helping Hand, Liberty 4000, and asking for Case 34.

GIRL, 17, WANTS WORK
(Refer to Case 35)

I am a reader of your paper. Note what good you are doing for the poor and needy. I am a girl, 17, out of work. I have a brother, 14 years, and a mother who gets city aid. My father has been dead 14 years and we have a very hard time getting along. I would be very pleased to get a Thanksgiving dinner. And some clothes as I have no underwear to put on, and my brother has nothing. I wish you wouldn't forget us.

This girl lives in Everett. Anyone wishing to aid may call the Boston Evening American Helping Hand, Liberty 4000, and refer to Case 35.

BOYS NEED SHOES
(Refer to Case 36)

I am a poor woman, my husband deserted me and I have two boys. I am sick with bronchitis and grippe and have no support. My boy is not working, but sometimes he makes $2 a week helping a man. I work when I am able, but have been sick for five weeks and now I can't get any work.

One boy is 13 years old and goes to school; the other has no work. I wish some kind reader of the Boston American would give him a job. He is shoeless. He has worn out his only pair of shoes, size 10½ or 11, man's size. He needs pants, shirts, size 15½, with collars. The other boy needs pants; he takes 16-year-old size. He is stout. He also needs a warm overcoat.

I cannot pay my bills now. We pay $3 for rent, and I try hard to do that and keep the two boys. I am in need of some shaker canned to keep me warm, and a heavy dress. I have no street clothes, that is how I got sick. I would like to get a warm coat, size 50. Please get in touch with some kind gentleman or lady who can give me any of these things.

This woman lives in Chelsea. Anyone wishing to aid may call the Boston Evening American Helping Hand, Liberty 4000, and refer to Case 36.

WANT CLOTHES, SHOES
(Refer to Case 37)

I am an old reader for the past 12 years and I can see and appreciate all the good that your paper is always doing. We have a family of six children all home and one in a hospital and our grandmother living with us. My husband has not had steady work since June. He has been hunting for a position for days now with no success. We have fallen behind with our rent, etc., so I cannot manage to get a cent to get shoes and rubbers, underclothes, etc., for the children to go to school.

If anyone has anything to spare I would appreciate it.

My children's ages are: Boys, 16, 8, 6½ years; girls, 12, 10, 14 years. I wear size 34 or 36, shoes size 4½; girls' shoe size 2, 1½ and 12½; boys' shoe size, 12 and 8½.

This woman lives in Natick. Anyone wishing to investigate this case may learn the address by calling the Boston Evening American Helping Hand, Liberty 4000, and asking for Case 37.

Auto Topples, but Driver Is Unhurt

Uninjured, James Asch, 27, of Freeport, N. Y., crawled out of his upside-down sedan in Clark ave., Chelsea, following a collision today. The car, in collision with another, driven by Peter Alukonis, 38, of Carey ave., Chelsea, was overturned and landed on the top, little damaged. Alukonis was not hurt.

Coxey's Daughter Weds in New York

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Miss Ruth Patricia Coxey, daughter of Jacob S. Coxey, leader of Coxey's army, was married in Trinity chapel yesterday to Frederick H. Wilson, 31, an advertising man. Coxey led the famous march of the unemployed to Washington in 1894.

3 SISTERS, LAND POOR, DIE

Los Angeles, Nov. 21 (AP)—Washing ashore of two bodies in Santa Monica Bay and a letter to Ralph Miller, Hollywood artist, has revealed the suicide pact of three elderly sisters, apparently penniless when holding title to $200,000 worth of real estate.

The bodies of Ida McKeon, 65, a widow, and Miss Abba Miller, 63, were found yesterday about the time the artist, who is a brother of the women, received a letter informing him his three sisters planned suicide. Miller said the third sister was Jessie Miller, 68. Search was being made for her body.

Miller told police the sisters were property poor. In their letter to their brother the sisters said they owed $1325 and had no way to pay it or meet living expenses.

SNOWS MAROON HUNDREDS

Denver, Nov. 21 (INS)—A drop in temperature today added to the suffering of hundreds of motorists marooned by storms in the Rocky Mountain area.

Train traffic was seriously impeded, rural and mining communities isolated and thousands of cattle buried by snowdrifts.

One death was reported from N. v Mexico, where Guy Minor, postmaster at Des Moines, N. M., froze to death when he left his stalled c r in a blizzard near Dora, N. M.

Many women fainted from cold and hunger when 55 stranded motorists took refuge in a filling station near Colorado Springs.

Snowdrifts near Hugo, Col., covered the Union Pacific tracks to a depth of 20 feet. Every main road leading into Cheyenne, Wyo., was blocked by snow.

The entire Arkansas Valley in southeastern Colorado was without electricity when transmission lines snapped under the weight of the snows.

King Carol Takes to Bed With Cold

Bucharest, Nov. 21 (AP)—It was said today King Carol had taken to his bed with a cold. He had a chill Wednesday, but continued with his duties yesterday. Premier Mironesci also is ill.

Gibson Prompted Move to Save Edith Cavell

Brussels, Nov. 21 (AP)—How the Marquis de Villalobar, Spanish ambassador to Belgium, and Hugh S. Gibson, then first secretary to the American Legation, tried to prevent the execution of Nurse Edith Cavell by the Germans, is told in extracts published from the diary of the marquis.

He relates that at Gibson's request, the two went to Baron von der Lancken, then director of political affairs in the occupied Belgian territory, and tried to get Miss Cavell reprieved on the eve of her execution.

The Marquis told Baron Lancken:

"Miss Cavell may have sent hundreds of men to the front by means of her ambulance, but if you kill her, he will send millions against you from her tomb."

The former Emperor Wilhelm is pictured by the Marquis as having become very angry when he learned of the execution. He is said to have reprimanded those who permitted it and to have ordered that in the future no women were to be executed.

Months later, dining with King George and Queen Mary of England, the Marquis related the details and quoted the King as saying:

"It is a relief to me to learn the German Emperor was not responsible for such a crime."

2 Women Fliers Seek Endurance Record

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP)—Miss Frances Harrell has sent word from Washington she and another woman plan to stay up in the air longer than any man ever did. They propose to make an endurance flight at Miami in January.

Suitor Kills Teacher Then Wounds Self

Bath, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP)—Miss Elizabeth Refinot, 24, native of Lowville and teacher of French at Bath high school, was shot and instantly killed early today, and Lawrence Guiney, 23, suitor, is in Bath hospital, probably fatally wounded with a self-inflicted bullet wound near the heart.

Lucky Horseshoe Brought Nothing but Misfortune

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 21 (AP)—The horseshoe which was placed over the door of a filling station here has been taken down and tossed into the ash can.

The reasons:

Saturday: Station held up.
Monday: Station again held up.
Wednesday: Gas pump broken and station house corner crushed by a runaway truck.

Sultan's 37 Heirs in Fight for 80 Million

Istanbul, Turkey, Nov. 21 (AP)—Trial of an $80,000,000 suit opens in the Turco-English tribunal in Istanbul tomorrow, when 37 descendants of Abdul Hamid, one of the last Turkish sultans, will seek to secure from Great Britain compensation for property of the sultan in Irak and Palestine confiscated by it.

The property listed in the suit includes important holdings in England and in the rich oil fields of Mosul.

INDIA PLEDGES STAND, SAYS M'DONALD

London, Nov. 21 (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald today told the Indian round table conference that the British government would not go back on any pledges it had made toward achievement of a responsible Indian government.

He referred particularly to the pledges prior to the Montagu-Chelmsford declaration of 1917 for greater association of Indians in the Indian government and development of self-governing institutions in India.

SOME DISAPPOINTED

Extremist Indian delegates were disappointed that no more definite line had been given on immediate intentions of the British government. A majority, however, were reported to have realized it would be impossible for MacDonald to pursue any other course at this early stage.

After MacDonald's speech, the plenary session adjourned and the burden of the conference was transferred to the federal relations committee of 32 members representing all sections of Indian life.

PRAISE OF PRINCES

The prime minister said in his address that statements of the Indian princes, accepting a federal form of government as the best suited for India's future had "revolutionized the situation."

"The princes have given a most substantial contribution in opening the way to a really united federated India," he said.

Edison Passed Up Radio Loud Speaker

Washington, Nov. 21 (INS)—Thomas A. Edison passed up a device which has become the basis of present day radio loud speakers, and which has produced hundreds of thousands of dollars in tribute from the industry.

This statement, made in briefs on file today in the Supreme Court in two patent cases, was confirmed by Marcus C. Hopkins of Washington, originator of the device.

Italy Tells 3000 Slavs in Zara to "Get Out"

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Nov. 21 (AP)—A dispatch from Zara, Italy, today said that the prefect of that town had issued a decree commanding 3000 Jugoslavian non-Italian citizens who had failed to apply for Italian nationality to dispose of their property and to quit Zara by Dec. 31.

Venice Celebrates End of Great Plague

Venice, Nov. 21 (AP)—The feast of "Our Lady of Health," commemorating the aid the Blessed Virgin is supposed to have brought to the plague-stricken city of Venice in 1631, was celebrated with solemnity today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Tisdale, of Arlington, former residents of North Andover, today observed their 53rd wedding anniversary, in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Herbert W. Bolser, of Warren st., Arlington.

Court Checks Chicks' Crows With Sleep Muzzle Order

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP)—Vice-Chancellor Fallon doesn't know how to keep roosters from crowing but he expects John Webster to find out.

The chancery court granted an injunction against Webster yesterday on complaint of a neighbor that his chickens had kept him awake and made an invalid of him. The vice-chancellor instructed Webster to muffle them between 10 p. m. and 7:30 a. m.

"How will I keep them quiet?" asked Webster.

"I don't know," Fallon replied, "that is up to you."

Biggest Ad Given to Good Housekeeping

Bespeaking an unshakable confidence in public buying power and returning prosperity, the Grigsby-Grunow Company and the Majestic Household Utilities Corporation have placed the largest single advertisement ever given by any woman's magazine in the December issue of Good Housekeeping.

The advertisement is of eight pages, four-color insert, one 573,000, representing the last expenditure of money by any single manufacturer in one issue of any magazine, so far as is known.

The advertisement is to describe Majestic Electric Refrigerators. The companies now producing 800 refrigerators a day, and 6,000 persons employed in the huge plants of Grigsby-Grunow Company and Majestic Household Utilities in Chicago. These plants have capacity of 3,000 refrigerators, 6 complete radios and 100,000 tonality. W. C. Grunow, president of the two affiliated companies, said:

"We sincerely believe that you cannot buy a better refrigerator than the Majestic at any price, and to properly publish newest product of the two factories we decided place in Good Housekeeping's largest single advertisement placed in a woman's magazine."

Duane Wanamaker, vice-president in charge of advertising for the companies, said:

"Good Housekeeping was picked to carry this advertisement exclusively because, in our opinion, Good Housekeeping circulation represents a picked audience of the most desirable housewives. To tell the story of this wonderful new Majestic electrical refrigerator requires far more than eight pages, but in order to give the housewives of America a little glimpse of what a really wonderful product it is, we decided to use this advertisement and to invest over $100,000 at the same time in the newspapers of America."

Easy Pumpkin Recipes for Holiday

Taken From Martha Lee's Friday Morning Broadcast Over Station WLEX.

Is there anything more delicious than golden brown pumpkin pies and tarts with ice cold cider and maybe a doughnut for good measure? Of course you assume that the pastry is flaky and crumbly and the pumpkin nicely browned and crackling with goodness.

Martha Lee

Here are tested suggestions for Thanksgiving pastries. Be sure and have your crust crisp. You can use either fresh or canned pumpkin.

A GOOD PUMPKIN PIE: Ingredients, two cups milk, three eggs, one teaspoon cinnamon, one and one-half teaspoons ginger, one teaspoon salt, little more than two cups strained pumpkin, one and one-eighth cups sugar. Mix the pumpkin, sugar and spices. Stir in well beaten egg yolks and the milk. Beat the egg whites stiffly and fold in. Turn into a pie plate lined with pastry and bake in a moderate oven but having enough heat at first to set crust. Done when knife comes out clean as for a custard pie. Bake 450 degrees F., for 15 minutes, 324 degrees until set. Makes on large pie.

PUMPKIN AND DATE TARTS: Ingredients, 1¼ cups brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1¼ teaspoons ginger, 1¼ teaspoons cinnamon, 3 eggs, 1½ cups evaporated milk, 2 cups strained pumpkin, ¾ cup water, and dates. Combine pumpkin, sugar and spices, add slightly beaten egg yolks and the milk and water mixed together. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Stone and cut up dates and put one in bottom of each pastry lined tart tin. Pour in pumpkin mixture and bake. Make about 32 tarts.

AN EXTRA SPECIAL PUMPKIN PIE—Ingredients: 1 1-3 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 4 eggs, 2¼ cups strained pumpkin, 2 cups milk. Mix spices with sugar and add to the pumpkin. Add slightly beaten eggs and milk. Pour into pie tin lined with pastry and bake, having oven hot at first, 450 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce to 325 degrees for 30 minutes or until set.

Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee

Bares Secret

EL COMANCHO, famous adventurer and trapper, who told students of the Martha Lee Cooking School how to keep slim.

El Comancho Lectures

Just when we were thinking and talking about the Thanksgiving cookery of long ago, El Comancho, famous adventurer, trapper and meat hunter of the old trails, came out of the West to the Martha Lee Cooking School at 5 Winthrop Sq. for a little visit.

We set aside our bowls and spoons and listened open mouthed and wide eyed while El Comancho painted word pictures for us of the pioneer days when he and his parents lived in a tiny outpost of civilization. There were Indians in plenty and buffalo herds, gold rushes, Indian wars, long-horned steers, stampedes, and adventures galore.

El Comancho told us of all this and of the hardships experienced by the pioneer women, who, he said, wore "a calico wrapper, a sun bonnet and a coat of tan." Reducing diets were unknown in those days—and unneeded—but El Comancho told us that when, after several months in the effete East, he puts on 20 or 25 superfluous pounds, he takes them off in a very short time by eliminating from his diet "all starch, sugar and grease," and taking six oranges, grape fruit or lemons a day.

The citric acid in these fruits, he claims dissolves fat, and certainly many modern misses could envy his straight leanness.

Cooking school members will be glad to know that they will have the opportunity of hearing El Comancho again over Station WLEX, next Monday evening at 6:30.

The FIRST DUTY OF THE HOUSEWIFE

DR. COPELAND, famous food authority, says: "The first duty of the housewife is to place upon the table a bread so appealing that it will be taken in liberal amounts by every member of the family. Spread with good butter, and eaten with good vegetables and meats, it will surely provide an abundance of essential food elements. Bake or buy bread made with unbleached flour, that is untreated and undiscored."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Dr. Sheldon Glueck, of Harvard crime survey, urged in his address before the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene in Boston, that we have a two years college course for penal and criminology workers. This suggestion is worth considering.

We need to study prisons and prison discipline. Improper prison conditions have been ascribed as causes for prison outbreaks.

Better examination of conditions in prison life, and the necessity of segregating desperate and ungovernable men, who fear nothing, from men who are trying to accept their punishment. There are always to be found in every prison the redeemable and the unregenerate.

This is so, especially with women prisoners. Better work in reform should be noticeable in this type of prison. Young women are often sent to prison when they should be sent to a psychopathic hospital for examination. But Massachusetts is leading in the study of criminology.

Lauds Cartoon by Harding to Stimulate Buying

Editor Boston American:

According to the old [illegible] it pays to advertise [illegible]

Puts Unemployment Issue Up to the Politicians

Editor Boston American:

[illegible] matching to the bread line.

As I was [illegible] New York [illegible] him [illegible] a wife and [illegible] York to [illegible] he had [illegible] Massachusetts [illegible] thing in common with [illegible]

He told [illegible] he [illegible] asked for work and how [illegible] bench to sleep [illegible] one because [illegible] up by the unemployed. He said he had fought in the war [illegible]

I can remember [illegible] ago when the [illegible] how the politicians talked about the fine, devoted and courageous boys of America. Where are these politicians today? And what are they doing for their fine, devoted and courageous boys who were willing to give up their lives for who?

These politicians should get in their cars and go from town to town and see these working people beg for food. And if something isn't done soon it will take [illegible] to return to normalcy, and [illegible] before the people [illegible]

[illegible] people [illegible] not by nature [illegible] people, but a person with an empty stomach [illegible] anything.

Why don't these "patriotic" politicians do something?

HENRY B. RUBEN

American Given Credit for Coolidge Victory

Editor Boston American:

At our club of 51 at our last meeting we were unanimous that the Boston American did more than all the Boston papers to elect Coolidge. If your paper were owned by corporations it could not do it. Your cartoons and editorials did the trick.

The voters of the Bay State have recorded their dislike of the [illegible] at Washington. President Hoover swept the country two years ago on the prosperity issue. He gave us the election [illegible] that if elected he would close the doors of the poorhouse and banish poverty from the earth.

What a prize joke. Secretary Mellon said that 1930 would be a wonder, with money abundant, interest rates low, business good. Another prize joke.

What do we find today? We find millions jobless. Multiply this by three for the average family of human beings who face want and hunger, with many more millions of workers on three or four days a week.

No wonder we have over-production, as workers have no money to buy.

They [illegible] us that with prohibition crime would almost disappear and today we are the most criminal nation on earth. [illegible] is six times as criminal and ten times as drunk as wet Canada?

THOMAS SCULLY.

Reforms Needed at City Lodging House

Editor Boston American:

Councilman Dowd deserves great credit for his obviously sincere interest in the Municipal Lodging House on Hawkins st.

"The Hawk" has had a bad name for decades among the social engineers of the country. [illegible] has been casual the [illegible] by the city open to question. Several reforms are quite necessary.

1. Baths compulsory and actual [illegible]

2. Blankets deloused weekly.

3. Some hot soup given all the men at night whether workers or not.

The practice of giving cold beans to many almost starving men is cruel.

4. "The Hawk" should be open to inspection by the citizens.

MATTHEW STINSON.

Lauds President Hoover's Child Welfare Address

Editor Boston American:

In listening over the radio last evening to the child welfare address by President Hoover I could not help but [illegible] what President Hoover said during the war [illegible] directing [illegible] charity [illegible] children.

[illegible] was dealing [illegible] the [illegible] of orphans, famine and destitution.

What [illegible] out in that address was that his statements were not made upon theories, but through contact with European children.

He was interested years ago in a survey of 86 American cities to determine what safeguards are actually being given to the health of our American children. This gave him an insight into child welfare and that address was not based upon evidence of [illegible] workers, but upon his own investigations before becoming President of the United States.

This seems not to be known so I am sending you this letter [illegible] to account for his interest in child welfare.

HOOD WORKERS ASSURED JOBS

The spectre of unemployment and the bugbear of a wage cut were given a decisive blow in Ford Hall last night by Dr. Charles H. Hood, president of H. P. Hood & Sons, in an address as guest speaker before more than 1500 employes gathered for the 23rd annual banquet of the H. P. Hood Mutual Benefit Association when he assured them of continuous employment with no thought of wage reductions.

As further encouragement to all members of the H. P. Hood & Sons Benefit organization Dr. Hood announced the personal gift of a $… bank account to each baby born to them from now on, following this announcement by presenting four checks to four proud fathers in front of a cheering audience.

"You members of the Hood family know the warm feeling I have for babies," said Dr. Hood, "and realize our responsibility to them. It is up to every one of us to do our best and give them the best food that nature and science can find."

Thomas A. Pine, superintendent of the Quincy branch, outgoing president of the Hood Mutual Benefit Association, introduced the speakers and announced the new officers for 1931 elected as follows: President, C. H. … vice president, … treasurer, secretary, Margaret … treasurer, John A. Foley; auditor, Francis J. Ford. The last three officers were re-elected.

The Hood Modern Concert Orchestra, known to thousands of radio listeners throughout New England, conducted by Ranny Weeks, furnished peppy music during the dinner and sparkling entertainment that followed.

CHEVROLET IN UNIQUE SHOW

Executives of Chevrolet Motor Co. staged one of the most pretentious business shows ever seen in Boston in the Repertory Theater yesterday.

W. S. Knudson

The show was Chevrolet's method of informing 800 of its New England dealers its plans and policies for an aggressive year in 1931 and … a … year in …

Skits and … depicted every phase of a … car sales organization and its correct operation. A movietone picture explained the proper method of salesmanship.

Five types of the new improved Chevrolet were exhibited.

W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor Co., who took an active part in yesterday's program, … an optimistic outlook for 1931.

"We consider that 1931 will be a normal business year," he said. "The depression has been more a 'buyers' panic than anything else. There is abundance of money, only people have been hoarding it. Now the public is showing signs of beginning to buy again."

Chevrolet expects to build and … cars in 1931, increasing its program 20 per cent each month over the preceding month.

Old Age Relief to Aliens Is Opposed

Local No. 2, the Massachusetts Association of Public Relief Officers voted unanimously to oppose extending to aliens the benefits of the recently passed state law providing old age pensions.

The present law provides that assistance shall be given only to citizens. It was estimated that approximately 30,000 persons over 70 years of age would benefit by the act.

Toughton & Dutton Workers Hold Party

The annual Thanksgiving party of the Houghton & Dutton Mutual Relief Association was held last evening in the ballroom of the Hotel Bradford. Hundreds of pretty young women and their escorts forgot the cares of a business day in the large department store when they enjoyed four hours of continuous dancing.

Their bright and sparkling evening gowns added a gay, festive holiday air to this snappy get-together.

New form of Chipso eliminates "working up" suds

Chipso Granules burst into suds at touch of water! Mountains of rich, lively suds!

Mrs. C. P.—
"Takes very little to make a tubful of suds"

"I was amazed to see the amount of suds I got with a small quantity of Chipso," writes a Dedham woman. [illegible] And clothes were spotless."

"Never got such suds before even when I worked hard for them!" writes Mrs. B. J., of Swampscott

Mountains of sparkling [illegible] suds in steam-dried form. Even ice-cold water dissolves each tiny bubble into a soap-solution of concentrated cleaning power. Chipso Granules save time—they save hands and—they give real Chipso results!

Mrs. E. M.—
"Wash done in a jiffy now"

"I'm fussy about my washing. That's why I don't rave [illegible] Now I let the thick creamy Chipso suds soak the dirt out instead of doing hard rubbing. My clothes look perfect, colored things seem bright as new."

Mrs. C. H.—
"People always speak about my hands"

"Perhaps it sounds conceited to boast about nice hands—but for a long time I didn't have them! Strong soaps reddened my skin, and I thought my nails were ruined. Since using Chipso Granules, however, I have my hands in water only about a third of the time I used to and Chipso doesn't seem to hurt them. They look young again!"

Why Chipso is the world's most popular washing machine soap

BRITAIN PLANS NEW PARTY TO AID JOBLESS

London, Nov. 21 (INS)—With unemployment in Britain rapidly growing and no definite relief in view, the formation of a new national party from the ranks of the country's three leading political organizations is seriously being contemplated here.

The unemployment question has placed the labor government in a difficult position. It is apparently a problem too great for the government to cope with and although the opposition parties would unite to overthrow the Laborites at any moment, none of them wish to be in power with the same problems on their hands.

Hence the national party project. It is suggested that, in order to avoid the turmoil and financial loss of a general election the present administration could abdicate in favor of the proposed new party, which would take over the government in much the same way as the coalition government did during the war.

It is proposed that the new party remain in power until solutions are found for the unemployment question and the India problem, these two being the chief issues before Britain today.

The leaders of the movement are said to be Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Sir Oswald Mosley, wealthy young aristocrat who resigned from Ramsay MacDonald's administration because of his disagreement with the way in which the unemployment problem was being handled.

It is said Premier MacDonald himself, worn with the cares of the present problems, might welcome such relief from his responsibilities as might be given by the proposed national party.

Merton Puts His Mark on Ethel

HOW THE STORY STARTED

Richard Walters, a skilled mechanic, is sincerely in love with Ethel Simmons, a shy, little, church going girl, so far as Walter knows. He loves her for her shyness and saintliness. Ethel tells him she has to go to a suburb to meet Mrs. Shelton, who is on the church entertainment committee. He drives her over and departs. Ethel walks down to Moon Lake, where she meets Merton Nissinger, a sporty young man, who has inherited a big share of the Paxton Mills. Ethel's mother thinks she will stay all night with Mrs. Shelton. In the Nissinger lake cottage he and Ethel have their rendezvous ... e tells Nissinger that one of the funniest things she ever heard of is the way Dick Walters loves her because she is such a good girl

Novelized by LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE (From the Play by John Wexley, Copyright 1930.)

CHAPTER 2

MERTON NISSINGER held Ethel in his arms, their lips joined in a kiss.

"Babe," Nissinger finally said, "why waste your time with such a wet smack as that Dick Walters?"

"Aw, now, Merton—be reasonable, sweet boy."

"Well, why?"

"In the first place, mother likes him—she says he is the sort of a chap she can trust with me."

"Can she?"

Ethel pretended to box Nissinger's ears.

"He's the sort of a sap a girl would be safe with on a desert island—if she wanted to be safe."

They both chuckled.

"He takes me to shows and movies, brings me little presents and it's nice to have some one to take you 'round. If I could go 'round with you—"

To Marry Nina

"Listen, Babe," Nissinger said hastily, "we threshed all of that out. I can't afford to do that—I'm going to marry Nina Paxton, you know tha. I'll get a majority of the stock in the mills right in my own name then. Boy! It mean you and I will sneak off for a nice little trip around the world.

"I know, sweet boy - only I was you who was kicking because I run around in the city with Dick Walter."

"Not complaining—go to it—it's a wise move. Love me heaps?"

"All the heaps there are Merton."

"Gee, guess you do. You are serious when you call me 'Merton.'"

"Well, then, 'Hot Boy.'"

"That's more like it."

He started the electric ... it was a stifling hot evening.

"Seen this?" he asked.

It was a pen and ink sketch of the boat landing at the lake. Nissinger was unusually good, as an amateur.

Ethel admired the drawing.

"Here," he said, picking up a drawing pen with a needle point, "I belong to you—put your trade-mark on me, put an E right over my heart, like this."

He jabbed the pen through paper in a series of dots to show her.

Her Mark

"Won't it hurt?"

"Not at all, go to it."

Ethel thought it was great fun. She made an E by jabbing pen-pricks in his skin

"Now you belong to me. Babe. I must put my mark on you."

"O-o h, no, it will show!"

"It won't show on your chest."

"All rightie — go ahead Mert."

Deftly he jabbed the dots forming the initial N. But when he gave her ordinary writing fluid to use, which would soon disappear, he used India ink that would be as indelible as tattoo marks.

It was nearly dawn when Nis...

Dr. Leary Warns Women of 'Hustle'

SEES DANGER IN TAKING MEN'S JOBS

Medical Examiner Points to Increase in the Number of Blood Pressure Cases

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

A warning to women hurrying into positions formerly occupied by men was sounded today by Dr. Timothy Leary, medical examiner for the southern district of Suffolk County.

He addressed the Boston City Federation, an organization of club women headed by Mrs. Willard Dana Woodbury, at public health ... in the Y. W. C. A. ...

"Women are dying today at a much faster rate than in other years from the diseases generally attributed to high blood pressure," Dr. Leary said.

"Hurry and hustle in the fields of endeavor, heretofore occupied by men, cause it.

If they must enter these positions they should do so gradually and not expect to fit immediately into the strenuous work man has handled for years."

Making the Most of Today's Dollar

Women Today Vitally Interested in Buying Wisely

(The second of a series of interviews with Massachusetts women leaders, giving their suggestions to those who buy goods and to those who sell them, concerning their mutual and vital problem of receiving and giving full value in every particular for every dollar spent. The third interview will appear in tomorrow's Evening American.)

Mrs. Azel A. Packard, director for Massachusetts in General Federation of Women's Clubs, today gives suggestions to those who buy goods and those who sell them.

Mrs. Packard comments follow.

"Everything that women are interested in today goes back to the home. Two years as president of the State Federation taught me that club women do not grope as they once did. Their minds are trained now to look for reasons behind everything and ... these things touch the home in some way.

"Today you find clubwomen studying things not only from a national but an international standpoint, interested in living, interested in ... economic problems. And men know now that club work and all it signifies has not taken women out of the home but made them more keenly alert to everything affecting the home.

MRS. AZEL A. PACKARD

"Just now we are facing a period when women are interested in buying wisely. This becomes an individual matter to every housewife.

"Many women rather resent any impractical fashion that may be forced on the public. Just because somebody says certain long white gloves, easily soiled accessories, are fashionable is no reason why everybody should believe it and go buy an expensive article like that. It would be just as easy to make black gloves fashionable as to push those light ones but some manufacturers of course do not think of service when they put out such an article—they look for increased sales. We admit that these are lovely things but very few wage earners can afford them, and the working people are the ones who buy the most.

It is marvelous what women have done with just a few pennies. Many have budgeted so carefully that they do wonders on far less income than others who are in debt with big incomes. Thinking people do not spend lavishly—they apportion their incomes to fit the needs of the whole family.

"The exchange of goods is a privilege too often abused. We should co-operate with the stores in this matter for the good of all concerned.

"Also, the delivery of small packages that might well ...

The message signed by Cardinal Pacelli, secretary at Vatican City follows:

"The Holy Father is most appreciative of Your Eminence's message conveying an expression of the loyalty and devotion of the hierarchy of the United States. His Holiness wishes Your Eminence to assure the hierarchy that this delicate and thoughtful tribute of affection is most gratefully received.

"The Holy Father prays that the meeting of the bishops will produce abundant fruits for welfare of our Holy Mother the Church and the sanctification of her children.

"The Holy Father bestows the apostolic blessing on the hierarchy, clergy, religious and faithful of the United States."

$50 Weekly for News and Picture Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American offers the opportunity. Each week $50 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned in to the News Tip Editor at Liberty 1000.

And what is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger? That's a news tip. If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event, while it is happening. Pictures of unusual animal poses are wanted, too. Bring your action pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use in the American.

There will be $15 given weekly for the best or an unusual event news tip received, $10 for the next best, $5 for the next best, and $2 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips. Of course, the first one who turns in the tip in an interesting event receives the award on that particular item. Anyone who is alive and alert can win.

PAINTING JOBS SOUGHT FOR WORKLESS

Other Repairs and "Dressing Up" Employment Asked for at the Municipal Bureau

If you have an odd job to be done in the home—or work for one or more men or women in factory, office, store or other business enterprise—call the Municipal Employment Bureau, Liberty 8607, or mail the coupon to 25 Church st., Boston.

Painting, repairing, modernizing plant ande quipment are doing, and can do, much to sustain employment, said the New England Council in its annual message to the New England Conference now meeting in Boston.

And the council might have added that painting, repairing and "dressing up" of buildings and homes would do much to help the unemployed in the present crisis. It is this type of odd job that can greatly relieve conditions.

By virtue of energetic work by his assistants and himself, Director John J. Shields of the municipal bureau hopes to escape some of the customary week-end slack in jobs offered.

Shields and his helpers have sought out business men, urging them to supply work, and a special effort is being made to place large numbers of trained office workers, men, women and girls.

Following the lead of Boston, Newton, under the leadership of Mayor Sinclair Weeks, has appealed for work for 883 registered experienced workers, carpenters, electrical workers, laborers, mechanics and machinists, plumbers and steam fitters, chauffeurs, janitors, masons, painters, clerks, accountants, bookkeepers, salesmen, civil engineers, stenographers, telephone operators, typists, printers, photographers, nurse maids, cashiers and others.

Leon B. Rogers is chairman of the Newton mayor's relief committee.

FIRE MENACES LEATHER AREA; LOSS $20,000

South St. Blaze Is Believed Due to Spontaneous Combustion

Damage of $20,000 was caused and several buildings were menaced last night, when a two-alarm fire swept through the basement of the five-story brick building at 34-36 South st., in the heart of the leather district.

The fire, which fire officials believe started from spontaneous combustion in the basement of the building occupied by the Mutual Leather Company at No. 36 South st., raged uncontrolled for several minutes.

The fire destroyed a large quantity of leather goods in the store of the Mutual Leather Co. Smoke did damage to the Ackerman & Patterson Leather Co. on the floor above.

At 34 South st. smoke did considerable damage to the J. Einstein Co., on the second floor. The S. C. Fullansbe Co. on the third floor and the Old Colony Leather Co. on the fourth floor also suffered losses from smoke. The fifth floor of the building was unoccupied.

Sennott, son of Councillor-at-Large Edward J. Sennott of Cambridge, surrendered to police. He was arraigned in East Cambridge court charged with manslaughter and operating in a dangerous manner. The case was continued to Dec. 9.

Pleads Guilty in Killing; Gets 7 Years

Guiseppe Di Carlo, 30, of Webster ave., North End, pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge today in Superior Court in connection with his shooting of James Ferruzzi of Hutchinson st., North End, last Aug. 4. Judge Walford Gray immediately sentenced Di Carlo from five to seven years in State Prison. The shooting was the aftermath of a gambling game.

250 Drivers Nabbed in Trap on Artery

Another police campaign on the Cambridge section of the Northern Artery was staged against speeders yesterday, when officers of the East Cambridge station under Capt. Timothy F. Leahy booked 250 motorists, all of whom are to be summoned into court.

Many drivers were also stopped for failure to slow down at intersections.

Counting yesterday's work, about 700 have been stopped by the police.

$30 CASHIER ADMITS STEALING $5499

USED ALL TO PAY FAMILY EXPENSES

Francis E. Laroche of Winthrop Tells the Court He Couldn't Resist

Francis E. Laroche, 30, father of four children, was arrested today for larceny of $5499.26 from the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation, 110 Milk st., where he was cashier.

[illegible] that he had taken the money [illegible] a little more and had fixed his books to conceal the peculations.

Laroche told Judge Murray [illegible] salary was [illegible] a week that he handled many thousands of dollars weekly for the company and could not resist the temptation to take small amounts at intervals which he used entirely for household expenses.

He told of his family living in Winthrop and asked that bail be set as low as possible.

It was set at $5000 and the case continued for a week.

Laroche was arrested by Inspectors George Harold and Frank Hagerty [illegible] the [illegible] employer.

Star Opens Radio Hour

INAUGURATING "SILVER LINING HOUR," weekly broadcast of the Boston Industrial Home, Seena Owen, star of stage and screen, had plenty of co-operation from a group of fair admirers in the WEEI studio at Houghton & Dutton. Miss Owen took things easy on top of piano as she broadcast.

SCREEN STAR OPENS NEW RADIO HOUR

Seena Owen Present at First Broadcast of the Boston Industrial Program

The Boston Industrial Home inaugurated a weekly broadcast known as "The Silver Lining Hour" over WEEI yesterday afternoon, with ex-Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols and Miss Seena Owen, star of "The Blue Ghost," as guest artists.

Oliver C. Elliot, superintendent of the Home, was master of ceremonies. He stated that the program was made possible through the courtesy of William T. [illegible], a director of the Home.

The weekly broadcast aims to inform radio listeners of the aims of the institution in providing necessities to the unfortunate.

Miss Owen, appearing before the microphone for the first time, was interviewed by Elliot and expressed her happiness at being able to help the institution by her appearance. Miss Owen then questioned Elliot about his connections with the home.

Elliot replied that he had first come to the home 12 years ago and [illegible] the help given him was enough to get a start in life. He has been superintendent of the institution for the past [illegible] years.

Ex-Mayor Nichols, president of the home, described its founding and gave several examples of the work performed. He said that more than 110,000 persons had been cared for by the institution during its 53 years of existence.

Musical selections were rendered by Wilbur Burleigh, organist, and William Richardson, baritone.

CHINESE SAY DRUG RAIDERS ROBBED THEM

Money and Jewelry Missing After Visits of Police, Crowley Is Told

Loss of money and jewelry amounting to several hundred dollars in value, on the night of the drug raid in Chinatown two weeks ago was reported to Supt. Michael H. Crowley today by Chin Lee of Harrison ave. and other Chinese.

This raid was made by a picked squad from headquarters instead of [illegible] a few days after the appearance of [illegible] agents from Washington.

On orders from Supt. Crowley, Deputy Supt. James McDevitt was [illegible] of [illegible] to investigate [illegible].

A [illegible] complaint was made several years ago [illegible] in Chinatown by [illegible] of police.

Missing Girl Hunt Lands 3 in Court

Police investigation of the cases of [illegible] missing girls ranging in age from 13 to 17 led to the arrest of [illegible] Abrahams of Spring [illegible] West End and his wife, Sarah [illegible] where both were found guilty.

Abrahams was sentenced to 1 year in the House of Correction for deriving support from his wife, and was given six months for being an idle and disorderly person.

Mrs. Abrahams was found guilty of being idle and disorderly, as was another woman, Rena Loud, said to be an acquaintance. They will be sentenced later.

Councillor Kelly's Assailant Is Freed

Martin J. McCarthy, former policeman of Cummins highway, Roslindale, was freed today in municipal court of a charge of assault and battery on City Councilor Francis E. Kelly of Ward 15, Dorchester. Judge Zottoli dismissed the charge on request of Senator Joseph J. Mulhern, counsel for Kelly, who said defendant and complainant had reached a satisfactory agreement. Kelly and McCarthy [illegible] following a recent row on Union st.

Nice Day for Rowing; Garrett Hunt Goes Back to Harbor

The [illegible] police search for Oliver B. Garrett turned again today to the bottom of Boston harbor.

Dragging operations begun and ended last week following publication of a [illegible] to the effect that the fugitive former liquor raider had been slain and hurled into the harbor off Driscoll's Landing were resumed on orders of Supt. Crowley.

Source of the information that resulted in a resumption of the dragging was undisclosed, but [illegible] generally accepted [illegible] it was a [illegible]. Two boatloads of police under direction of Lieut. Lawrence Dunn began the dragging.

HOWARD HUGHES TO MAKE COMEDY WITH LOUIS WOLHEIM HEADING CAST

COOPER IS ALSO IN FILM

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service

(Copyright 1930 by Universal Service)

Los Angeles, Nov. 21—Howard Hughes, the young millionaire producer who made film history when he took two years to produce "Hell's Angels" and spent four million dollars, is soon to get busy again. This time it's a comedy. Maybe Howard feels a little gaiety is pleasant after so much strenuous drama. He is tentatively calling his next picture "Aces Up."

That grand trouper, Louis Wolheim, has one of the leads and George Cooper, another fine actor, also has an important role. Mr. Wolheim is the hero. He also [illegible] portant [illegible] "Gentleman's Fate" [illegible] Gilbert's next talkie [illegible] for the picture. He knows his stuff.

Louella O. Parsons

JOHN MOFFITT, who resided in Kansas City and who was drama and motion picture editor of one of the leading papers, has had a pleasant thing happen to him. He sold a scenario to Junior Laemmle glorifying the air mail service. After reading the story Junior decided that here was a man who might better be in Hollywood than in Kansas City. Hence an offer to leave the newspaper job and come west. We hope he won't be sorry, as many newspaper people have left good jobs and have been sorry.

Anyway, his first story must have merit for it will star Lew Ayres and if you put your ear to the ground at [illegible] City you are pretty apt to say the story is perfect for the young man who made such a name for himself in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

While Harry Cohn is in New York buying plays his brother, Jack, will be running the Columbia Studios on the West Coast. The day before Harry left he was busier than the proverbial cranberry merchant. He bought "An Overnight Affair," an original by Marion Orth, for Evelyn Brent. The original must have pleased him for he decided [illegible] others. He said [illegible] author has a [illegible] of merit and would bring it to him at the Ambassador Hotel in New York he would read it. That is a large order, Mr. Cohn, and one we would rather have you do than do ourselves.

"AMONG THE MARRIED" needs just such a subtle touch as Edgar Selwyn can give it. That's why he has been chosen to direct this interesting farce of married life. Leila Hyams, who never really had a chance until she surprised everyone in [illegible] [illegible] husband [illegible]

Louise Dresser

Leila Hyams

[illegible]

THE BERT LYTELLS will be welcomed back to Hollywood soon. Welcome is the word I mean, too, for both Bert and Grace are very popular and have many friends here who are glad they have chosen to remain with the picture industry instead of going to New York for a play. Bert has just signed for the male lead in "The Single Sin" for Tiffany. What a lot we have heard about "The Single Sin" which William Nigh directs. Kay Johnson [illegible]

[illegible] I heard she [illegible] about to arrange an amicable parting. Maybe this is just gossip, but it seems pretty well circulated around Hollywood that Miss Johnson has announced herself as wishing to free-lance.

THERE IS SOMETHING in knowing the stage. Walter Catlett, who is one of the [illegible] foremost comedians and who has given a very good account of himself in all the pictures he has made, is doing a [illegible] for Pathe called "Stage Struck." I am told it is original and something different from the [illegible] talkies. Another little piece of news is that John Van Druten, who wrote "Young Woodley," the play [illegible] has been signed [illegible] Ruth Chatterton [illegible] John Cromwell [illegible] direct her.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: ELSIE JANIS lunching with HARRY COHN prior to his leaving for New York. MARION NIXON and JEANETTE LOFF lunching at one table and EDWARD HILLMAN, JR., and a strange young man lunching at another table at the Embassy. MRS. W. K. HOWARD lunching with several friends at one table and W. K. HOWARD and EDMUND LOWE [illegible] table at the same place. [illegible] FRANCES DEE and JUNE COLLYER [illegible] BARNEY GLAZER, AL K. HALL, EDWIN KNOPF, HERMAN MANKIEWICZ [illegible] Hard boiled critics wiping away a tear at "Min and Bill." MARLENE DIETRICH getting bigger bill post advertising than any star up to now. JACK WARNER arriving home, also GRAHAM BAKER and HAL WALLIS, also LOUISE FAZENDA. LOUISE and HAL have been to Yurrup since they left our town. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

GEORGE BANCROFT SCORES IN "DERELICT" AT MET

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

THAT GREAT, HUSKY, hurlyburly he-man of the movies, George Bancroft, returns to us after an absence. He is more two-fisted than ever. There was a time when we thought he would mend his ways, depend less on his bicipital muscles, and go straight—that is, straight so far as histrionic style matters. But as master of the quarterdeck he shows more crimson corpuscles than ever in "Derelict," film feature at the Metropolitan.

Mr. Bancroft nearly always gives a good performance. Here is a skipper of the horny-handed type. Sailors have hearts, yo-ho, heave-ho, and a bottle of grog! So Mr. Bancroft falls in love. You have guessed it, the young lady has a past; she has been a honky-tonk girl in Havana, of all places. Pas[t] are the shad[es] of the red, red rose in that wonderful city. But this lass has many good points, and her line is charmingly curvilinear. She is worth the brutal battling that ensues with her as the pawn. The other man is William Boyd, not the "Bill" of the Marine films, but a William who stepped from the stage to make a good place for himself in the movies. Splendid shipboard scenes come, magnificent "shots" of a collision and a terrific storm at sea. Out of it all flows the sweet peace of the unruffled waters of romance with Mr. Bancroft and Jessie Royce Landis safe in the arms of Cupid at the finish.

A GOOD DIRECTOR can always do a lot with little. Rowland Lee works overtime with the [illegible] and he does very well. He has sequences which [illegible] danger of the leap and goes a long way toward making the "Derelict," otherwise likely to have been merest flotsam and jetsam, interesting.

MR. BOYD HAS fared well in all his screen appearances, and in "Derelict" he gives Mr. Bancroft a swift race for the honors. He is a better actor than the star. Together they make a rather picturesque pair of catch-as-catch-can knock-down-and-drag-out [illegible] ready fighters at the merest drop of the hat or at nothing at all. Miss Landis is a disappointment and the rest of the cast is negligible.

CHENKIN GIVES JORDAN HALL PROGRAM

By MOSES SMITH

Victor Chenkin, singer and diseur, actor and mime, who had appeared in Boston previously only under semiprivate auspices, gave a program of international character songs at Jordan Hall last night. The concert, which was for the benefit of [illegible] House, was attended by a good sized and demonstrative audience.

The audience might well have filled the hall but for the fact that Harald Kreutzberg and Yvonne Georgi, noted German dancers, were playing at the same time at Symphony Hall before an audience of many who undoubtedly would have liked to attend both events. Here seemed a case where managers might have acted co-operatively to their own and the public's mutual profit.

Seeing and hearing Chenkin for the first time one was naturally impressed with his art of characterization, for which he is justly famous. Even more impressive was his aptness at telling a story in song, and in many languages. He sang songs in Russian, German, Italian, Yiddish (which the program called Hebrew) and Ukrainian.

In all of these tongues he was effective. Though the songs were for the most part drawn from folk-lore or were sentimental ditties, they served as a springboard to enable Chenkin to color his character, establish a mood or tell a tale. There was room, too, for very artistic singing in the Italian group, and for vivid exciting drama in the Yiddish. Effective costumes and an intelligent, unified building of the program added to the pleasure of the evening.

The German dancers meanwhile, at Symphony Hall were delighting a large audience with their art, an art that has even progressed from last year, if a dance or two at the end was representative of their efforts.

Film Who's Who

Actor, director, rubber salesman and author, these are some of the varied callings of the many-sided John Gilbert, starring in "Way for a Sailor" at Loew's Orpheum this week. Gilbert was born at Logan, Utah. Upon graduating from the Hitchcock Military Academy at San Rafael, Cal., he played a number of stock company engagements and then joined the sales force of the Goodyear Rubber Company. Soon after he deserted that position for the films, at first writing scenarios and directing his own stories, then as a player before the camera. His earliest success was in "His Hour." In "The Snob" he added to his laurels, but it was not until his remarkable role in "The Big Parade" that the name of John Gilbert commenced to be displayed from theater marquees in electric lights. Then followed his sensational co-starring career with Greta Garbo. He made his talking picture debut in "His Glorious Night."

AMERICAN MEN BEST DRESSED

American men, as a whole, are the best dressed males in the world, contrary to the popular belief that Englishmen as a group are sartorially superior, according to Jack Buchanan, English stage favorite and reputed rival of the Prince of Wales as a fashion plate for Londoners.

Englishmen, on the other hand, he says, are selectively better dressed than America's masculine elite—the well-dressed Englishman is a smarter appearing gentleman than the well-dressed American.

"Mass production by American manufacturers of suits, shirts, hats and coats accounts for America's group supremacy as a well-dressed nation," says Buchanan. "These makers turn out in huge quantities ready-made garments that are the finest produced anywhere, and Americans are fortunate in being able to buy these garments easily and economically.

"The English tailor, catering to a moneyed clientele, is a finer specialist than the average American tailor, and this accounts for the superior cut and fit of clothes worn by the English gentleman."

Buchanan for some years has been a stage idol in London. He was introduced to American audiences in the original Charlot's Revue and more recently in the international musical success, "Wake Up and Dream." At present he is in Hollywood.

Paramount Director Has Novel Scheme

Injecting third dimension values in a picture has been found easy according to Josef von Sternberg, Paramount director, by utilizing such simple devices as a swaying lamp cord, a door frame, a pendant chandelier, etc.

Whereas most other directors go to lengths to have an unobstructed foreground between the camera and its subject, von Sternberg deliberately seeks the opposite effect. Wherever possible he has some object, large or small, injected into the scene in the middle distance, and behind this he has his players go through their action.

MOVIE STARS GIVE THANKS FOR MUCH

What is there for movie actors to be thankful for?

In spite of the hue and cry of hard times, there are any number in the Hollywood colony who have reason for thankfulness in this Thanksgiving season.

Edmund Breese remarks:

"For everything. If we would all quit crabbing and give thanks for what we already have, the world would soon see prosperity again."

Lawrence Grant comes forward with the original bit that he is thankful another year has gone by and he hasn't had the urge to write the story of his life.

NATALIE MOORHEAD says:

"That producers like blondes and that every picture demands someone in the character of 'the other woman.' I hope this condition never changes."

Mrs. James Gleason's comes right from the heart and bespeaks relief at the recovery of her mother. It is:

"That my mother came through an operation successfully."

Louise Fazenda was married on Thanksgiving Day three years ago and her paramount thankfulness centers around her husband, Hal Wallis.

IRENE RICH is thankful for past and future favors.

Claud Allister states:

"I am most thankful for a job. What I want is plenty of work and I have had it this year."

Carmel Myers reports one of her chief reasons for thanks this year is that red-haired girls are in demand for pictures and that she has Titian hair.

William Janney:

"That I was not in the stock market. I am investing mine in a chicken ranch."

Stage Who's Who

Queenie Smith, the magnetic bit of femininity who is so largely responsible for the success of "The Street Singer," musical comedy at the Shubert next Monday for two weeks before starting on a complete tour of the country, is a product of the big city, having been born and reared in the shadows of Columbia University, New York.

Queenie Smith

At nine she was placed in the Metropolitan Grand Opera ballet school and a few years later she made her first professional appearance. Then quickly followed her elevation to premiere danseuse and next her "jump" over to musical comedy. She has appeared in a score of plays, among which are "Just Because," "Be Yourself" with the late Jack Donahue, "Helen of Troy, N. Y.," "Orange Blossoms," "Tip Toes," "Judy" and "Hit the Deck."

"Devil to Pay"

Ronald Colman's latest for United Artists will be titled "Devil To Pay."

Ruth to Return

RUTH DRAPER
FAVORITE of thousands of Boston theatre patrons, Ruth Draper comes to the Wilbur Dec. 1 for an engagement of one week.

KARLOFF GETS BIG CONTRACT

By reason of his work in Columbia's production "The Criminal Code," the company has signed Boris Karloff, noted character delineator, on a long term contract. The roadshow production marks Karloff's first screen assignment for Columbia.

Karloff is a graduate of the legitimate stage. In his stage career he played leading roles in such successes as "The Virginian," "The Devil," and the Los Angeles company of "The Criminal Code." His outstanding screen endeavors include featured parts in "Soft Cushions," "Two Arabian Nights," "The Love Mart," "Vultures of the Sea," "Behind That Curtain," "Her Honor the Governor," "The Greater Glory," "The Devil's Chaplain," "The Fatal Warning," "Little Wild Girl," "Phantoms of the North" and "Two Sisters."

To Be Co-Featured

As a result of their success as a comedy team in "See America Thirst," which Wm. Moore is now directing, Harry Langdon and Slim Summerville will be co-featured in a second Universal comedy special. It was decided by Carl Laemmle, Jr.

ROUGH HOUSE STUNT WON HIM FAME

An audience in the hinterlands simply refused to laugh, so Roy Cummings, headliner on the stage of the Keith-Boston, starting tomorrow, according to his own confession, transformed himself from a high class [illegible] to a rough house comedian. And [illegible] the Big Time opened its doors to him. Cummings often tells of the time he was working in a little town in Massachusetts and was doing his best to be a refined comedian. His whole act was built on satire and needless to say he thought that it was just about the smartest and funniest satire there ever was.

Roy Cummings

But the audience seemed to have different ideas. Up until the last day the laughs that he had garnered could have been counted on the fingers of one hand.

During that last performance he broke everything in sight. He broke footlights, tore the curtain, stamped on his hat and bit his partner. And, to his amazement, the house "came down." All of a sudden he realized that the dawn of the hokum era was at hand, so he changed his tactics. Audiences have not been so tough since then.

Flo Roberts

Cummings' comedy is certainly "slapstick" fun of the slappiest sort. He seems quite mad on the stage, and entirely oblivious of the dangerous consequences of what might happen should he fall wrong. But perhaps it isn't as bad as it looks. In his many years as a vaudeville and revue headliner Cummings hasn't as yet received a serious injury. The blonde Flo Roberts appears with him again during this Boston engagement. Miss Roberts was formerly a featured player in musicals.

HARVARD GRIDMEN OFF FOR YALE TILT

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1930

FANNING WITH George Underwood

Harvard and Yale Ending Fifty-five Years of Football — Time Has Wrought Magical Changes Since Inaugural

Game Steeped in Tradition, Rich in Romance

On November 13, 1875, a group of 150 Harvard students and faculty got off the noon train at New Haven where Harvard was to play Yale a football game in Hamilton Park. A New Haven paper said it was "the biggest crowd from Boston ever seen in New Haven." Those 150 men of Harvard, perhaps treble the number from Yale, and a few handfulls of the good folk of New Haven saw that inaugural game which Harvard won, 4 goals to 0. No others came. Few at that time knew what football was. Harvard meeting Yale at football then only was a game. It was not until years later it became an event.

Many of those who saw that first football game between Harvard and Yale still are alive. Some of those who played in it have not yet been declared out by the Great Referee. Some of them may be a drop in that great sea of humanity which, 75,000 strong, will engulf the giant Yale Bowl, half a mile around its topmost rim, there on Derby Downs, tomorrow.

Geo. Underwood

We wonder what their reaction will be as their eyes take in the scene? An army corps, several army corps of spectators, sitting there, row on row, tier upon tier, section upon section in the big half-mile circle surrounding the gridiron. We wonder if the reporter is alive, who, looking at the party of 150 alighting from the noon train that November day fifty-five years ago, wrote that it was "the biggest crowd from Boston ever seen in New Haven."

Already the exodus from Boston has begun. Already the football specials are leaving South Station and Back Bay loaded down with gay groups and individuals who will spend the before-battle eve in New Haven. Already the automobiles, honk honking like gray Canadian geese, are racing along the roads that stretch like brown ribbons over the blue hills and through the beautiful vales of Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Tomorrow a hundred football specials each will disgorge ten times the total attendance of that first football meeting between the Crimson and the Blue. Boston and New Haven only will furnish their quotas. When Harvard meets Yale nowadays people come from all points of the compass. From North, South, East, West they come, even from across the seas, these men of Harvard and sons of Yale, and their sons and grandsons, daughters, sweethearts, wives.

Harvard has grown. Yale has grown. The Harvard vs. Yale football game has grown with them. It has ceased to be a mere game. It is an event.

Harvard vs. Yale.

The very name carries a thrill.

The Harvard-Yale game is old now, steeped with tradition, rich with the romance given by anything that is handed "from the age that is past to the age that is waiting before."

DAYS OF OLD

Many of you heard of Harvard vs. Yale at your mother's knee. You have heard your Dad, perhaps your Grandad, tell of Harvard-Yale battles of the brave days of old.

Grandfather will tell you of the days of Nat Curtis, Walter Camp, Cushing, Holmes, Cabot, Thacher, Cutts, Bacon, Terry, Thayer, Woodruff, Trafford, Lorin Deland, inventor of the "Flying Wedge," and many other famous old Harvard formations; of Pa Corbin, the giant Heffelfinger, McClung, Billy Bull and others. He will tell you of the year of the Long Hair, of Springfield and the old Massasoit House in the days when Yale and Harvard met on "neutral" ground. He will tell you when Harvard and Yale played in New York and of the coaching parade up Fifth Avenue, with the gaily bedecked tallyhos and the trumpets and trumpeters.

Perhaps Grandpa even can go back to two years before Harvard first met Yale and remembers when Harvard played a series of class and club games on Boston Common. Citizens residing around the Common called upon the municipal authorities to "suppress the intolerable noises" and "to put down the games." The city fathers passed a ponderous ordinance closing the Common to Harvard.

Dad brings you into more modern times. His heroes are more familiar. Hallowell, Wrenn, Hinkey, Thorne, Daly, Reid, Kernan, Campbell, Sawin, Graydon, Chadwick, Butterworth, Coy, Shevlin, Hogan, Burr, Kersberg, Wendell, Kennard, Leary, Rand, Coy, Kilpatrick, Fish, Corbett, Withington, Brickley, Minot, Felton—ah the names of the old heroes, some dead, some still living, roll off Dad's tongue like apples out of a barrell, names forever dear, to be spoken lovingly, tenderly of, by every man of Harvard, by every son of Yale.

Dad will tell you of Jarvis Field and Holmes Field and of the before and after-game festivities at the old Parker, Adams, Revere and Touraine. The name of the late Percy Haughton, if Dad is from Harvard, you will hear mentioned more often, more enthusiastically, more tenderly, perhaps, than all the others.

GREAT HAUGHTON

Percy Haughton was to Harvard what Walter Camp was to Yale—and more.

Percy Haughton put Harvard on the football map and took away the sting of many Yale defeats. He seemed destined to be a thorn in Yale's side. In his playing days he was fullback on the Harvard team that broke up a long chain of Yale victories by holding the Elis to a scoreless tie and tackle the next year on the Crimson team that swamped Yale 17 to 0, and gave the Crimson one of the few victories it scored over the Bulldog in the first quarter century of their football history.

It was years later, however, when Haughton came back as coach, that he did the most for old Harvard. It is Haughton's coaching days, rather than his playing days, he most is remembered for, most is loved for by every man of Harvard.

Of the first 25 games with Yale, Harvard only won five. When Percy Haughton took up the coaching reins at Cambridge, Harvard entered into a new era, an era in which in nine years Harvard scored 118 points to Yale's 19. How completely Haughton turned the tide!

Percy Haughton now is coaching fighting elevens in that Valhalla where all fighting men go.

HORWEEN'S FAREWELL

Coach Arnold Horween will be lost to Harvard too after tomorrow's game, for business duties imperatively demand his attention in Chicago.

Twice have Horween coached Harvard teams beaten Yale.

As a fitting farewell Harvard will try to add a third victory for Horween tomorrow.

But what a difference that scene in New Haven tomorrow and that scene of 55 years ago.

That reporter who penned those lines about "the biggest crowd from Boston ever seen in New Haven." Wonder what he would say were he alive today?

Seventy-five thousand people. Five hundred newspapermen sending countless columns over hundreds of leased wires to all parts of the world. Two great radio chains with famous announcers depicting the game, play by play and sending it to far-away ranches in Mexico, lone cabins in Canada, fishing smacks, battleships, ocean liners ploughing distant oceans.

Time is a great necromancer. Time is the most wonderful magician of all.

HOPEFUL HARVARD SQUAD OFF FOR YALE CLASSIC

ARNIE HORWEEN — EDDIE BRADFORD — EDDIE CASEY

Meehan Picks Yale to Defeat Harvard Tomorrow

N. Y. U. COACH ALSO SELECTS NOTRE DAME TO TRIUMPH OVER NORTHWESTERN

By J. P. (CHICK) MEEHAN
Head Coach at New York University

New York, Nov. 21. Tomorrow marks the big day for a great many college football games.

Harvard and Yale, two of the oldest colleges in the country, meet in their annual battle. Princeton will run a successful second and fortunate enough to get by Dartmouth. Harvard [illegible] Yale, and Princeton [illegible] Cornell.

[illegible] victory in its [illegible] opponents.

Yale has gone through a hard schedule and they are better equipped for this contest. For that reason I believe Yale will be the winner.

In the Notre Dame game of [illegible] one of the most interesting games of the season. Notre Dame will be a [illegible] favorite, but Northwestern has one of the best passing attacks in the country and this game should play to Red Hayes' advantage.

I think Notre Dame will win and will probably open up and pass for the first time this year.

In the far west there is another game when two of Southern California's opponents meet each other, namely, Stanford and California.

It looks to me as though Stanford will win this contest as California has not shown a great deal at any time during the year and Pop Warner can always bring his team along for a crucial contest.

Carnegie Tech Favored to Defeat Temple

[illegible] Carnegie Tech-Temple game [illegible] one of the best games [illegible] as both teams [illegible] and I think that [illegible] one of the best [illegible] of the year. [illegible] Warner will [illegible] Temple, but I look to see [illegible] these teams, but I look to see [illegible] Georgetown [illegible] top [illegible] Vanderbilt has had many [illegible] during the season and has played a very even schedule.

I do not think that they can stand up for a full game against this scrappy Georgetown team.

Sherry Here for Title Mat Bout With Sonnenberg

CHAMPION IN DANGER OF DEFEAT

By RINGSIDE

Jack Sherry, Ohio State champion, is in town to finish his training for his world's heavyweight championship wrestling bout with Gus Sonnenberg, which will be staged at the Boston Arena on Thanksgiving night under the direction of Paul Bowser.

Sherry was not expected here until the early part of next week and as a result his early arrival was a surprise.

"I am anxious to be in the best possible condition for my meeting with Sonnenberg," declared Sherry, "and I felt that by getting to the Hub early I could train better. I shall work out each day at Arthur Bloom's Gym in Bowdoin sq.

"I am pleased that the fans believe I won from Sonnenberg in our recent bout. I felt I had received a raw deal from Referee Leon Burbank. I had Gus licked and would have won the deciding fall if it had not been for the interference of the referee.

"I will win so decisively next Thursday night that nobody will be able to come to Sonnenberg's rescue."

Sherry Better Mat Artist Than Gus

The Ohio champion is a more finished wrestler than Sonnenberg. He has also shown that aggressive ... is the best way to offset Gus' famous flying tackle.

[illegible]

There is tremendous interest in the ... battle and it is expected that the Arena will be jammed to the rafters when Sonnenberg and Sherry go roaring into action.

Paul Bowser has agreed to donate ... per cent of the profits ... to the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American.

Winthrop Eleven in Title Battle

The Winthrop Alumni, leaders in the new North Shore high school Alumni league, is putting on finishing touches for its game with the strong Revere Alumni, coached by ... of Boston College, on Sunday afternoon at Fort Banks, Winthrop.

Winthrop leads the league by one point over Swampscott Alumni and should Revere give it a setback the 1930 championship will go up the north shore for this year.

Pres. MacCarthy of the league announced that the Winthrop Alumni first team will take the field tomorrow afternoon against the strong Winthrop high school team. This game has been arranged by the Winthrop Lodge of Elks for charity.

Ladies Like to See Amateur Ring Bouts

Bill Cuddy reports a record number of ladies have been attending the Saturday night amateur boxing shows of the St. Joe's T. A. Society at Mechanics Building. Cuddy says the presence of so many ladies has had a tendency to tone up boxing.

For the St. Joe's show tomorrow night there will be six classes. Bouts will be held at 118, 126, 135, 147 and 160 pounds and in the heavyweight division.

Leafs in Tie, But Hold League Lead

New York, Nov. 21—The New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs played through 70 minutes without either team scoring.

The deadlock was just enough to enable the Leafs to hold their place at the top of the league standing as the one point gave them a total of 6.

Pick Loughran to Beat King Levinsky

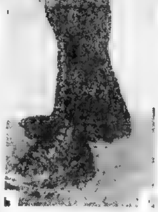

Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP)—Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, former world's light heavyweight champion, was a 2 to 1 favorite to defeat King Levinsky, the ex-fish pedlar, in a 10-round bout at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Sunday Game Wanted

The Cambridge Catholic Club desires a football game away from home Sunday with any fast semi-pro. football team in the state. Call Tom Kane at Univ. 4603-R between 7 and 7:30 p. m.

DIAMOND BELT AND DYNAMIC DEFENDER

GUS SONNENBERG, champion wrestler, holding the bejewelled belt, symbolic of his title, which will be at stake when he meets Jack Sherry of Ohio in a Christmas Basket Fund bout at the Arena on Thanksgiving night. Gus will have some job keeping the mat diadem. Sherry nearly spilled him in their last meeting.

BANTAM GOLF

B. C. Line Coach to Play for All Stars

When the Notre Dame All Stars under the direction of Knute Rockne meet the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds a week from next Sunday in a charity game, one of the foremost stars in the lineup will be John "Tiny" MacManmon who is the present line coach at Boston College. Tiny was a member of the Four Horsemen-Seven Mule team that made the South Bend institution famous. He will be playing his favorite position at tackle.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

Sergeant Eddie Mack of the Argonne A. A. [illegible] supported by a [illegible] when he popped into the Sporting Department today.

"Here is a check for $216 for the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American," chirped Mack. "It represents 50 per cent of the profit of the Callahan-Fuller show.

Jack Conway

"All of which will help bring happiness to some deserving poor at Christmas," declared Mr. Boston.

"Now that I have the Callahan-Fuller show out of the way," went on Mack, "I have turned the steam on for the Daniels-Friedman tussle which I'm dropping in at the Arena on Monday night. I am anxious to see this show go over big as I want to do my Christmas shopping early. And they don't take conversation in place of the old jack in any of the stores.

"Daniels will be in town today and will work out at one of the local gyms. Of course it is necessary for a promoter to speak well of his own show, but I don't believe I shall have to offer any excuses for boosting either Daniels or Friedman.

"Daniels is 22 years of age and looks like one of the most promising of the heavyweight battlers. He is managed by Mike Collins, who brought the two Gibbons brothers to the front.

"Dick has shown in Boston on two occasions. He looked like a first class fighter in his engagement with Marty Gallagher and Johnny Risko. He can punch, and so is sure to win popularity with the fans. Dempsey rode to a fortune behind his smashing punching power.

Friedman Is Always in There Trying

"Al Friedman does not require any extensive ballyhoo. He has been the most active heavyweight in the country. He has stepped in and battled all comers regardless of their ability. He traded punches with Daniels at Minneapolis. They don't have official decisions in Minneapolis and the sport writers couldn't agree as to which boxer had the best of the milling.

"No matter who wins Monday night you will see a fight.[illegible]

"If the college [illegible] would display as much interest in [illegible] the unemployed as the boxing [illegible] wrestling games have everything would be okay," said George.

"You will always find the Argonne A. A. in the front line ready to go into action any time there is need for a drive for any deserving cause," chirped Mack.

[illegible]

Maloney Keeps Word With Christmas Fund

"The spotlight will be turned on the Maloney-Risko bout as soon as the Daniels-Friedman match is out of the way next Monday night," said Mr. Boston.

"Maloney deserves a great deal of credit for signing to meet Risko. Shamus has been offered a guarantee of $10,000 to tackle Young Stribling at Miami, Fla., and will lose this shot if he is tossed for a loss by Risko. Ed Douglas, Miami promoter, and Pa Stribling both objected strenuously to Dan Carroll booking Shamus with Risko.

"Carroll, however, gave the Christmas Fund committee his word following Maloney's win over Carnera that the South Boston heavyweight would box for it next month. He [illegible] consulted to meet the best available opponent.

"The Christmas Fund committee didn't believe Carroll would permit Maloney to box Risko in view of the fact the latter knocked out the South Boston warrior at Cleveland in two heats.

"'I told you I would match Maloney with anybody you named,' thundered the good natured Carroll.

"And so the heavyweight classic was arranged. What a fight it will be."

She's Crazy Over Boy Who Left Her

—By BEATRICE FAIRFAX—

BEATRICE FAIRFAX will gladly answer questions regarding heart and home problems. Address her in care of the Boston American. Write on one side of the paper only. If you wish a personal answer enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope. Otherwise, questions of interest will be answered through her daily columns.

Miss Fairfax broadcasts over Station WLEX every evening except Saturday and Sunday at 6.35 p. m.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a girl of 18 and very much in love with a very nice boy of 19. I'm just simply crazy about him. He tells me that he likes me and talked about getting married twice since I met him. But lately he doesn't seem to care so much about me as when we first met in January. He broke several dates with me to go out with some other girls. What can I do to win his love back? Or does he still love me and doing it to see if I'll get jealous? Please advise me.

Beatrice Fairfax

LONESOME BEE.

Dear Lonesome Bee—A boy of 19 is not to be held accountable for his love affairs. Try and live it down, and give up the idea of "winning him back"; it's practically impossible, and the sort of job that many an older and wiser woman than you found herself stumped over.

Beauty in the Squaw Country

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I've got myself into as bad a mess as a boy of 23 could well manage, even if he advertised for the world's worst. Here goes—! This summer to earn a little extra money to help along my college course, I joined an expedition and went out West. Apart from a few Indian squaws, highly unfavored, there wasn't a girl in sight. Then I met a girl, or she seemed like a girl to me. She rode superbly, looked swell in her riding clothes, had lots of fun and jollity and I fell in love with her. I asked her to marry me—though I have still another year in college and not a cent. We became engaged. When I returned home I went to call on her father, a clergyman living in a distant city.

He was a fine old boy—told me he had no objection to me, but his daughter was 36 years of age, and he thought the marriage would be unfair to me. To put it mildly, a good deal of the cream was skimmed off my romance, as the girl had never said a word about being older than I. Back where girls are more plentiful I find I'm not in love with her—had I better write and make a clean breast of things?

IMPULSIVE SAM.

Dear Sam: I expect you'd better write that letter, my dear Sam, and tell the girl how matters stand. It's not going to be an easy letter to write, and I can't but feel sorry for the mature young lady, though accepting a boy of your age comes pretty near to cradle robbing. Next time you find yourself off in the wilderness don't be so hasty in asking ladies to marry you—as you see they often accept.

Nothing to Worry About

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a girl 16 years of age and I go out with a boy of 20 years. He wants to be engaged and I don't want to. I think he is too old. He claims he likes me. Will you please give me some advice?

MILDRED.

Dear Mildred: As far as your respective ages are concerned, there is nothing to worry about. If you, say, were 22 and he were 26, that would be an ideal set of ages for an engagement, but you are sensible in refusing to tie yourself down at the beginning of your girlhood, and I hope you continue to exercise such common sense for a few more years.

Wants Her to Give Up Her Children

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young widow of 24 and have two darling little children, whom I love dearly. The gentleman to whom I'm engaged wants me to put them in a home before our marriage, which is to take place in January. The other night he whipped my little girl, aged 2, severely because she cried when she woke up in the dark.

WIDOW.

Dear Widow: It's a question in my mind if a man who would beat a child of 2 really is a normal person. As for marrying him, please consider well what you're letting yourself in for!

What's in Fashion?

Better-Dressed Boys

—Directed by AMOS PARRISH—

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—The poet who said "The child is father of the man" had the right idea. Because many of the habits of a boy forms determine his habits when he grows older.

A well-dressed boy most always grows into a well-dressed man. And a rag-tag boy is usually apt to be the father of a man who doesn't know the first thing about dressing well.

Well-dressed boys are in fashion today. Any school or playground proves it. Not that the khaki-clad boy is out of fashion—or that comfort and sturdiness aren't important considerations in boys' clothes.

But boys' clothes today somehow manage to combine all these things—comfort, durability and good looks.

What kind of clothes do they wear these well-dressed boys who are comfortable, too? We've made check-ups of hundreds to find out. And here's what those check-ups show.

Most-in-Fashion Suits

The most fashionable suit has a plain single-breasted sack coat of tweed or cheviot with two buttons and patch pockets. Usually its seams are double stitched to make it sportier looking.

This suit has a regulation six-button vest like a man's. If he's a big boy, he wears regulation long trousers—not too wide either. If he's younger he's content with knickers. And if he's even younger than that—but still old enough for woolens—he wears shorts.

Right now, the chocolate browns and medium grays are most popular colors for these suits. With navy blue still the Sunday color.

Shirts Are Shirts

The most fashionable boy's shirt today is a shirt. Tuck-in tails are one of the most important items in the lives of boys from eight or so and up. Because from eight years on they insist on dressing like their fathers.

So their shirts are real men's shirts, with soft collars attached—and not too long or too round points. And in oxford or broadcloth—just like Dad's.

Only in the matter of pattern and color is much difference to be noted. Boys prefer solid blues, greens and tans, and stripes more than do their more conservative fathers.

Boys' tastes in ties also differ somewhat from older men's. Stripes, regimentals, mogadores, and all the more or less gaudy combinations of their school colors—these are what boys like best, so we find. Solid colors are a second favorite. And there are new widely-spaced designs of animals or sports accessories that are growing popular.

BOYS' FAVORITE OUTFITS

Right: The older boy wears the popular sack coat suit.

Favorite Hose

With long trousers boys are wearing lightweight wool and lisle hose. And they're more often patterned than they are plain. Knicker age boys wear [illegible] or golf hose. And Argyle or diamond patterns are the favorites.

But a few prefer solid color and the favorite ones are blue, tan, gray or black.

Boys' Shoes

These well-dressed younger boys of today put high-laced shoes [illegible] Older boys [illegible] the [illegible] type. And you're beginning to see lots of that two-color sports-type of shoe on boys' feet now—the same kind their [illegible] last summer.

Tweed and fleece overcoats for [illegible] leather and tweed for play are the two most popular outer garments. And they're worn with—respectively—the felt snap-brim hat and the tweed cap.

Beauty Problems of Skin Lucidly Analyzed

By JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

I HAVE received several letters recently from women who have dry, sensitive skins and who have been using astringents on them.

Astringents are drying and shrinking. How then can one hope to correct a dry condition when it is treated with a drying property? I would like to stress that we all must think for ourselves on these matters of beauty.

Josephine Huddleston

We must analyze our own beauty problems and it is easy to do.

Anything which is too dry needs moisture . . . things which are too wet need drying elements . . . whether the ingredient is water or [illegible]

We have the opposite experience in letters from women who write wanting help to correct their oily skin. They've tried every cleansing cream which has been recommended and still the condition persists!

The dry-skin condition needs oil . . . lots of it in the natural state such as the use of sweet almond oil (not to be confused with bitter almond oil which is poisonous), olive oil or as it is found in the many meritorious nourishing creams.

Excessively oily skins are the ones that require oil by stimulating the cells and ducts into renewed activity so they act normally.

Never use an astringent on a dry skin or on a sensitive skin which is inclined to dryness because the condition will be aggravated by its use. If you want to use a wash of some kind on dry skin use the boric acid solution with a little glycerin. This is made of equal parts of witch-hazel and boric acid solution. To one-half pint of this liquid (a fourth pint of witch-hazel and a fourth pint of boric acid solution) add one teaspoonful of pure glycerin.

Keep the skin tonic in an air-tight container and shake the bottle well each time before using.

THE LAST MILE -:- By Lewis Allen Browne

singer walked with her through the path in the grove over to Mrs. Shelton's house, where Ethel let herself in with the backdoor key.

Mrs. Shelton was in bed, but hadn't got to sleep.

"Come in, Ethel—I've just hit the hay," she called.

She snapped on the lights and sat on the edge of the bed.

"You aren't half as piffed as I thought you'd be."

"No fun drinking on a party like that," Ethel explained, slipping out of her clothes and looking around for pajamas she knew Mrs. Shelton would put out for her.

As she reached for them, Mrs. Shelton caught her arm and turned her half around.

"What's that?" she asked, putting her finger on the letter "N" Merton Nissinger had made over her chest.

"Ouch! . . . Mert said it would be sore for a day or so and he's right."

Ethel got into the pajamas and sat on the edge of the bed as she explained about it.

Embarrassing Time

"For God's sake, Ethel! And I gave you credit for being smart," Mabel Shelton exclaimed.

"What's the harm? I put a letter E over his name—it's our trade-mark sort of—we belong to each other."

"But look here, you're going to have an awful embarrassing time on your wedding night explaining what that 'N' means."

"Wedding night?"

"Sure. You'll marry some nice sap; it's safer."

"I suppose so." Ethel thought a moment and then giggled. "I'll tell him it is from an initiation into a sorority."

Ethel Simmons had formerly lived out in Hampton and had always gone there to church on Sundays, even after she moved to the city. Because of her mother's feebleness she did not attend. If Ethel missed going to church, however, she would soon hear of it from her church friends, who came frequently to see her.

At 11 o'clock next forenoon Ethel Simmons and Mrs. Shelton, looking demure and almost devout, walked down the aisle and bowed their heads as the rector delivered the brief morning prayer.

Ethel's mother expected her to come home after church, which she did, and told her mother all about the sermon, about Mrs. Throckton's new dress and how the Reverend Corwin sent his kindest regards to her.

She got in a few hours' sleep that afternoon and took the bus out to church again for the evening meeting.

Walters was awaiting her when she came out.

He helped her into his car.

"When I get my salary raise next week, dear," he said, "I'll have a car you won't be ashamed of."

Wonderful Girl

"Why, Dick, I'm not ashamed of this. It was lovely of you to come and get me."

Dick Walters stared eagerly at her.

"Do you know," he said, "when I saw you coming out of the church vestibule under those lights, you looked just like an angel."

"But I didn't flap my wings, Dick."

"I'm serious, dear—you looked heavenly—sometimes it almost scares me to think such a wonderful girl cares a little for me."

"Well, I think it's the only way to live, Dick—to be good."

"I know it—you couldn't help being perfect."

At Ethel's home they sat and talked for a while. She did try to hide a yawn but he saw it.

"[illegible] for you to be up [illegible] How about going to see the new picture Wednesday night at the Ajax Theater, dear?"

"You are a dear boy, Dick."

"I—I hope you'll always think so," he whispered, "will you?"

"Of course,—I like you heaps."

She lowered her eyelids and turned her face away. [illegible] Walters's heart thump, just to see this girl so demure and so shy.

Will Walters discover who the "swell little skirt" was? Don't miss the next installment tomorrow.

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

The fact is and in this respect the market was support[illegible] many skeptics to [illegible] market [illegible] not being unduly rushed into [illegible] highs until after it has had time to consolidate previous gains. Its progress, it be sustained, must be slow, at times exceedingly disappointing to reflect unexpected adverse developments. However, the chief intent of the market's sponsors appears to be achievement of stabilization rather than any spectacular upturn which might be succeeded only by intensified liquidation.

The market appears to be at a stage where good news will meet immediate response without such support from fundamentals the market will be forced to wade through the anticipated barrage of unfavorable news, such as fourth quarter statements and low operations.

Harvester's 1931 Dividend Assured

The following statement was issued by George A. Ranney, vice-president and treasurer of International Harvester Co.:

"In view of the industrial depression and its consequent effect on corporate earnings, the directors of International Harvester Co. believe its stockholders are entitled to some assurance of the company's dividend policy for the year 1931.

"The present estimate of earnings for 1930, while lower than the preceding year, indicates a substantial margin over the common dividend requirements and the estimate for next year's business indicates that while the volume of trade will be somewhat restricted, the dividends on the common stock will be more than earned.

"Directors, therefore, feel entirely warranted in continuing the present dividend policy and announce that dividends on the common stock at the present rate will be paid throughout the year 1931."

Shorts Caught in Texas Corporation

Declaration of the regular dividend by the Texas Corp. shows that the doubts which had been expressed in bearish quarters as to the maintenance of the rate were without foundation. When Texas Corp. was declining some weeks ago under pressure from the bears and forced liquidation considerable talk concerning the dividend was heard. A considerable short still exists in the stock.

United Biscuit's Dividend Increase

Action of United Biscuit directors in raising the company's dividend rate from $1.60 to $2 a share per annum was a surprise to many in the financial district, although it had been predicted in certain quarters. The action was interpreted as [illegible] good [illegible] by the company and the confidence of the management in the outlook.

In the first nine months the company reported earnings of $3 a share on the 488,320 common shares outstanding. Normally the fourth quarter is satisfactory and indications are that the results for 1930 will be only moderately under the $4.39 a share reported last year.

A. M. Byers New Process Satisfactory

Interests close to the A. M. Byers Co. state that operations at the new plant of the company under the Aston Process have been entirely satisfactory. The plant started operations only a few months ago at a time when the steel industry was unusually dull. It [illegible] that with improvement in the steel industry the new plant will become an important factor in the company's earnings.

National Cash Register's "Extra"

Wall Street holds the opinion that when directors of National Cash Register meet late next month they will omit the extra dividend of $1 a share on the class "A" stock. Business of the company this year was affected not only by conditions in the United States but also by uncertainties abroad since a good part of its volume has been in exports. The domestic market for cash registers has not improved, according to students of business conditions.

Commercial Solvents Earnings Prospect

Because of low commodity prices, interests in Commercial Solvents are said to believe that it will not be necessary to take inventory losses at the end of this year. Estimates have indicated that the company will earn between $1 and $1.25 a share this year, with the actual results likely to be nearer the latter than the former figure.

Doehler Die's Bookings Better

Orders booked by Doehler Die Casting Co. during October have shown a distinct betterment and represented an increase of 28 per cent over September, which in turn showed a slight improvement over August.

Present indications are that profit before taxes for the entire year will approximate $250,000. With the exception of the furniture division, all of the company's subsidiaries are showing a profit.

October Is Good Month for Ward

More than fulfilling its early promise of being by all odds the biggest month of the year in point of earnings October is understood to have shown for Montgomery Ward profits sufficient to reduce the loss from operations, which for the first nine months totalled $2,348,000, down under $1,100,000 for the ten months ended Oct. 31. As November is normally a bigger sales month than October the chances are strong that the b[illegible] will be back in black ink figures by the end of this month.

Further Gains by American Tobacco

Investment buying was attracted to American Tobacco on disclosure that sales of its leading cigarette increased [illegible] in October over the same month last year.

Quiet Buying of Houston Oil

Without attracting much attention there has been quiet buying of Houston Oil in the belief that the stock should participate more vigorously in any further recovery of the market. Emphasis is placed on the natural gas business of the company rather than its oil activities.

Long-Pull Buying of New Haven

Demand for New Haven common is attracted by the relatively high yield and indications that a dividend will be fully earned this [illegible] general depression.

Norfolk-Western Favored Rail

There is persistent demand for Norfolk & Western, based on its sustained earnings this year, and the rather attractive yield afforded by the stock. Speculative flavor is given the stock by reason of its status as a minority issue in view of the large holdings of the Pennsylvania.

Working Capital of "Aggie" Big

En[illegible] capitalization of American Agricultural Chemical, including bonds, is selling for about [illegible] The preferred has a [illegible] value of about [illegible] common approximately $7 [illegible] with par of the bonds $8,[illegible] Yet the company has a working capital of $22,633,576 of which [illegible] is cash. In addition [illegible] property account is down to $6,1[illegible] 618 from $18,863,047 a year ago [illegible] depreciation in both instances. N[illegible] quick asset value is $44 a share on 337,875 new shares, no par, to be outstanding when all old preferred and common have been exchanged.

Gulf, Mobile Betterment Due

Insiders believe the decline in Gulf, Mobile & Northern traffic temporary and expect an improvement in earnings for final quarter.

It is pointed out in some quarters that Gulf Mobile & Northern is expected to be one of the most sought after merger rails, its mileage offering entrance to both New Orleans and Mobile and running almost straight north to Paducah, Ky., entrance to which it [illegible] by tracks [illegible] over N[illegible] Chattanooga & St. Louis. At Paducah it has a traffic interchange agreement with [illegible] and was [illegible] Atlantic [illegible] Interstate Commerce Commission's [illegible] final consolidation plan.

Earnings Report Comparisons Made

Earnings reports compared with a year ago and dividend announcements by leading companies since Oct. 1 follows:

	Since Oct. 1	Add ns Yest'ay
Increased earnings	199	5
Decreased dividends	333	8
Unchanged dividends	493	23
Increased dividend	16	1
Decreased dividends	27	2

Stabilization Is Moving Slowly

Attempts are being made to stabilize prices of many commodities including steel, copper, [illegible] sugar and cotton. Such efforts will prove fruitful in the long run but in the case of the stock market, the improvement may be slow and irregular.

Hopeful View Is Held on Congress

Little talk is heard in customers' rooms about the coming session of Congress. As one veteran trader puts it:

"All factions will vie with each other in introducing constructive legislation designed to lift the country from depression."

Improvement for Steel Expected

A banker just returned from Chicago and Pittsburgh says sentiment in those cities is improving, that steel manufacturers now are convinced industry has touched bottom and will improve gradually. No pronounced gain in operations is looked for in the near future but the belief is that operations will be considerably higher before end of the first [illegible] of next year with better prices. New steel mill construction has continued and is keeping many thousands employed.

Public Buying in Small Lots

Brokers continue to report good public buying for a long pull but most of it is in small lots. Only a few conservative brokerage houses are not advising purchase of good stocks "for a long pull." Buying is small, individually, but fairly large in the aggregate, and has been a big help in sustaining values.

Market Short of Bull Pools

The market never was so bare of bull pools. Those in existence are not active. Experienced managers of bull pools know how hard it is to make one stock move against the trend. At present little speculative public demand exists and few pools are successful unless they can work up an outside following. Last year, before the October break, dozens of bull pools were in active operation.

BOSTON STOCK PRICES TURN HIGHER

Prices turned higher in late trading on the Boston Stock Exchange today. Changes ranged from fractions to 3 points or more. Edison advanced 3 points to a new high [illegible]

M[illegible] Central sold off 1⅛ to a new low for the year at [illegible]. This [illegible] a high for the year of [illegible] selling for the first time since [illegible] August. Wilson Jones was down 7 from the previous close to a new 1930 low.

American & Continental Corporation gained over a point, as did Island Creek and General Electric. Railway Light & Security jumped over 2 points.

Gillette, Nash and Atchison sold fractionally higher. American [illegible] dipped a fraction to a new low.

A block of 870 shares of Boston [illegible] common changed hands [illegible] up [illegible] from the previous close. [illegible] was the purchaser and [illegible] Gannett on the selling end.

Declaration by Libby McNeill & Libby of an initial semi-annual dividend of $3 on the 6 per cent non-cumulative second preferred stock may be regarded as the final step in capital readjustment which was approved last May.

At that time stockholders approved creation of this issue, which enabled the company to pay off accumulated dividends on the first preferred. Of the $11,780,000 of $100 par stock, total authorized and outstanding, $3,780,000 was issued to first preferred stockholders in payment of accruals and $8,000,000 exchanged for a like amount of 7 per cent first preferred.

Inauguration of dividends on the 6 per cent preferred will increase charges ahead of the common by $240,000 annually. Payments on the first preferred require $700,000 so that total dividend requirements ahead of the common now amount to $1,4[illegible]. In addition there are $11,875,000 5 per cent bonds outstanding.

Libby McNeill reports earnings but once a year. For the year ended March 1930, which was one of expansion, net after charges amounted to $2,822,532, compared with $3,012,288 in 1929 and $1,775,376 in 1928.

Niles-Bement Has Surplus Increase

Although Niles-Bement-Pond Co. issues only annual income statements the balance sheet as of Sept. 30 last shows a gain in surplus of $187,891 from Dec. 31, 1929 [illegible] net income of $621,007 or $3.23 a share on 192,[illegible] shares of common stock. During the nine months three regular 50-cent quarterly dividends and three extras of 25 cents each were paid or a total of $2.25. Thus the period's requirements were topped with nearly $1 to spare and the entire year's requirements of $2.75 well covered.

Company has not indicated whether directors will declare another 25-cent dividend at the December meeting.

Niagara Share Corporation

Niagara Share Corp. declared regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents on the common, payable Jan. 15 to stock of record Dec. 24, and $1.50 on the preferred, payable Jan. 2.

INSURANCE

Insurance Field Offers Chance for Work. Suitable for Many Now Without Jobs. Offers Appeal for Safe Investment. Contracts Will Fit All Kinds of Cases.

By Frank F. Loomis

Life insurance now has an unusual opportunity for public service. The employment situation throughout the country is serious enough to have called the organizational resources of the national government into use. There are a large number of men qualified for life insurance salesmanship without work, because of mergers and of the low level of business activity.

Bank officials, bond salesmen and similar types of capable men, whose abilities are easily adaptable to life underwriting, may be drawn into life insurance service through organized recruited campaigns. And a very large number of these men once having tasted the profits and the independence of this new work, would make it their lifelong vocation.

• • •

In these times when the stock market, the bond market and the real estate market are off, when people who ordinarily invest money are not investing in anything because they do not know what is safe, when bond salesmen and security salesmen are being laid off because there is no business, it is a good time for many good salesmen to enter into the life insurance business and perhaps make a bigger success and more money than they ever made selling securities, real estate, etc., if they understood that life insurance is a wonderful investment.

• • •

Life insurance has a popular appeal to a man who is looking for a safe investment. A substantial life insurance policy will preserve valuable assets and at the same time solve future financial problems. Contracts are written now to fit all kinds of cases and needs of individuals and a good insurance salesman can readily determine the proper policy to fill the needs of his prospect.

For instance, assuming a man at age 35, wants to invest money each year for a sure retirement income; for an annual deposit of $425.60 for thirty years, he can purchase a contract which will provide that at age 65, he will receive an income of $100 a month for life.

• • •

The worst that can happen to him from an investment standpoint is that he makes thirty deposits of $425.60, or a total of $12,768. At that time he will start to receive, and will receive as long as he lives and for ten years certain $100 a month or $1200 a year which is 9% plus on $12,768, the amount he has paid in.

It is true that if an investor bought bonds over a 30-year period he might receive 5% during his accumulation period while his life insurance investment does not start to pay on the income until age 65. However, the investor does not need the income during his productive period. What he wants is the largest absolutely sure return when he is ready to retire and life insurance gives him both the certainty and the largest return when he needs it.

• • •

And the life insurance investment is elastic as it provides for all contingencies. If anything happens to the purchaser after one deposit is made, his investment return is very much larger. If he is disabled by accident or sickness, he immediately starts to receive the income of $100 a month or $1200 a year that he expects to receive at the maturity of the contract and this return may be 300% and will continue as long as disability lasts, whether temporary or total and permanent.

In event of financial reverses and ready cash is needed the contract has cash and loan values of which the purchaser may avail himself.

In event of premature death, the contract is at once completed. If death is from natural causes, $10,000 is immediately available to the beneficiary and this amount is increased to $25,000 in event of accidental death and to $30,000 in event of death due to a collision or upset of a private pleasure automobile while traveling therein.

Our changing economic conditions have brought about great developments in life insurance and this business holds a bright future for any young man entering it with the determination to stay in it. The training schools, now conducted by the life companies, offer a rare opportunity to secure a thorough knowledge of the business and the mastery of its salesmanship which assures early and profitable success in the field.

Bucklin Acts as Host to Bankers

President Walter S. Bucklin of the National Shawmut Bank and chairman of the Bankers Committee of the New England Council, is giving a dinner tonight at the Algonquin Club to 125 bankers attending the New England Bank Management Conference, being held in connection with the current conference of the New England Council. These bankers are also attending the Federal Reserve stockholders' meeting. Following the dinner there will be a theater party.

Calumet & Arizona Output Is Lowered

Calumet & Arizona Mining Co. has curtailed output between 14 per cent and 15 per cent. Former production was around 7,500,000 pounds a month, making the present output at a rate of about 6,300,000 pounds a month.

Insurance Company Merger in Making

Philadelphia, Nov. 21—A special meeting of stockholders of Sylvania Insurance Co. to vote on proposed merger with Globe Insurance Co. will be held Dec. 1.

Changes for Bond Prices Are Narrow

New York, Nov. 21—Changes in bond prices were generally narrow. Some [illegible] issues were fairly [illegible] on slight fluctuations [illegible] and important progress was confined to a few gilt-edged obligations. Governments, however, were very firm and Liberty 3½s, fourth 4¼s and Treasury 4¼s forged ahead.

Brooklyn, N. Y., November 21, 1930.

A quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on the [illegible] stock of par value of [illegible] Mergenthaler Linotype Company will be paid on December 31, 1930, to the stockholders of record as they appear at the close of business on December 5, 1930. The Transfer Books will not be closed.

W. W. WELSH, Secretary.

LATE RALLY FOR RAILS STIFFENS STOCK LIST

New York, Nov. 21—Bulls speeded up their reserves by railway to save the day for the cause of higher prices in today's stock market.

After again pushing through into the new high ground for the recovery where selling was met late yesterday, the market again showed signs of slipping, until a brisk upturn in the rail shares in the final 15 minutes strengthened the entire list. The market closed with a strong tone, gains ranging from 1 to 5 points.

TRADING PICKS UP

Trading was extremely light in the morning, when a temporary selling movement was encountered, but picked up in the afternoon. Total transactions were about 2,250,000 shares.

Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Atchison and New York Central gained 2 to 5 points.

Shares closing up 2 to 4 included American Can, Sears Roebuck, Stone & Webster, Westinghouse Electric, Air Reduction, Eastman, Foster Wheeler and Case.

Stocks gaining 1 to 2 included U. S. Steel, General Electric, Bethlehem, International Telephone, North American and Johns Manville.

Profit taking and early short selling were easily absorbed by the buying wave which reputedly contained a good volume of orders from outside investors.

Good gains in the wheat market, better prices for cotton and other agricultural products, improved outlook for retail trade and a growing belief that the worst of the depression has passed were the principal factors influencing the larger demand for good stocks today.

Drives against the shorts are also believed to have paved the way for professional buying.

The selling which appeared in the last hour of the previous session was carried over into today's early trading, causing further recessions of a point or two, but it was soon completed and the advance resumed.

Most of the trading appeared to be professional and strength of some of the specialties suggested resumption of pool activity.

PRICE DROPS CHECKED

Continued improvement in the wheat market was a bullish influence, as it led to fresh hopes that the decline in commodities had been at last checked.

Success of efforts to maintain copper at 12 cents still seemed to hang in the balance, however, with speculators and small dealers offering the metal all the way down to 10¼. The export price still held at the 12-cent basis, however, and the trade expects foreign consumers will be forced into the market for substantial amounts sooner than domestic users of the metal.

The Irving Trust Company, in its mid-month review of business, pointed to the firmer prices in textiles, copper, sugar, rubber and other commodities, and concluded:

"It seems safe to assume that few raw materials can long be bought at less than the costs of production."

Statistics for building were less favorable. F. W. Dodge's report for the first half of November shows a reduction in contracts let east of the Rockies of about 9 per cent from the level of October.

Electric power consumption in the second week of the month showed somewhat more than the seasonal decline, with a reduction of eight-tenths of one per cent from the previous week.

It was notable, however, that the drop was primarily in the industrial areas of the Middle West, where there have been spotty signs of pickup in the last few days. The decline in this area more than offset slight gains on the Atlantic seaboard and the Pacific coast.

Moody's, in reporting its preliminary "prosperity index" for October, pointed out that, while it showed a further decline, the downward curve was flattening out, for the drop was the smallest since last June.

CONVERSE HAS ORDERS UP

Treasurer F. R. Allen of the Converse Rubber Co. stated today that orders for future shipments are in excess of those on hand in previous years.

"The regular periodical audit of the affairs of the Converse Rubber Co. has been completed by the company's auditors, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.," he said.

"The auditor's report shows the company to be in excellent financial condition, with capital and surplus in excess of $2,000,000. Net working capital is in excess of $1,000,000 at the peak of the company's borrowing season, and cash and receivables, including only those maturing within 30 days, are in excess of all liabilities.

"The operations of the period show a satisfactory profit after charging off depreciation at the rate of over $100,000 per annum, and marking down all inventories to the basis of cost or market value, whichever was the lower."

Wheat Is Higher in Chicago Market

Chicago, Nov. 21—Wheat today closed ¾ to 1½c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅜ to 1⅛c up, with oats 1½ to 2c advanced. Under scattered selling, provisions eased in the late trading and closed unchanged to 7c lower.

Steel Strip Price Quotations Steady

Chicago, Nov. 21—Sheet steel and hot and cold rolled strip steel prices, as announced by Inland Steel Co. and Acme Steel Co. for first quarter delivery are unchanged from current quarter quotations.

Workers Are Called Back to Plants of Body Makers

New York, Nov. 21 (AP) Officials of the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants in St. Louis state that employes are being recalled as rapidly as production can be stepped up. Orders for new models are reported to be coming in faster than they can be filled and that 4,500 will be at work and operations at 75 per cent of capacity by Dec. 1.

Cotton Steady in New York Market

New York, Nov. 21—Cotton futures today closed steady, unchanged to 7 points lower; December, 10.77; January, 10.92. New contracts—December, 10.78-80; January, 10.94-95; March, 11.19-20; May, 11.45-46; July, 11.63-64; October, 11.83-85. Spot, quiet; middling, 10.85.

ADVICE TO INVESTORS IS FREE

Before you buy or sell stocks or bonds, you ought to secure unbiased expert advice. Send your investment inquiries with stamp to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. All replies are made by mail direct.

CAN PAY DIVIDENDS

J. A. Roxbury—I enjoy reading your column. Please give information on Texas Gulf Sulphur; also your opinion of a purchase.

Ans.—To judge what you should buy we must have facts about your circumstances. You may need bonds. Texas Gulf Sulphur is the larger of two companies controlling most of the sulphur supply in the United States. Dividends have been paid from 1921; current $4 rate from third quarter of 1925. Earnings for first nine months of this year covered full year's dividends. In 1929 net income amounted to $6.40 a share, compared with $5.72 in 1928 and $4.76 in 1927. At recent low levels the stock was selling on a basis to yield close to 8 per cent.

OMIT FACTS

J. L., Boston—I own Standard Oil of Indiana at 50. Do you think I ought to buy more at current levels?

Ans.—That depends on the amount you have put into the stock, your other securities, if any, and your cash surplus, facts which you overlook. Ordinarily it is a good plan to diversify one's purchases. Standard Oil of Indiana has paid regular dividends of $2.50 a share, with extras, from 1923. Net income last year was equivalent to $4.66 a share, compared with $5.35 in 1928. The company is the world's largest producer of gasoline.

Bruening Speech Unsettles Boerse

Berlin, Nov. 21—Prices on the German Boerse crumbled today in reaction partly to Chancellor Bruenning's speech to farming representatives on German financial difficulties and partly to the selling of German industrials in Paris and New York.

Later dealings were scarce and the tendency remained dull. The day's losses amounted to from two to three points but potash shares dropped an average of seven points. The dye trust kept firm.

Fire Extinguisher Dividend Ordered

Providence, Nov. 21—General Fire Extinguisher Co. declared quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share on the common, payable Dec. 10 to stock of record Nov. 29. In previous quarters a payment of 50 cents was made and at the first of the year an extra distribution of 50 cents was declared.

Winnipeg Electric Company

Winnipeg Electric Co. declared regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred, payable Jan. 1.

Stock Dividend

Mayflower Associates, Inc., declared quarterly dividends of 50 cents in cash and 1 per cent in stock, payable December 15.

Kris Kringle Goes Modern and Has Secretaries Sort His Mail

Santa Claus has gone modern.

So great was the mail response from the kiddies in the past three days that old Santa has employed a staff of secretaries to sort the letters. The venerable old gentleman who gladdens the kids' hearts is heard over WLEX each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6:30 on the Boston Evening American Feature Period.

Even before Santa had extended an invitation for the boys and girls to write in and ask for what they wanted the mail arrived in bunches Wednesday morning. It seems that a story had leaked out to the effect that Old Nick would broadcast on WLEX. He took one look at the mail and said that if the kids expected him to make up their presents, they would have to slow up on sending in so many letters. But the old boy hit on the solution of having his assistants sort his mail, and now Santa can return to his workshop, happy with the thought that everything balances.

Be sure and tune the kiddies in on WLEX this evening at 6:30 when Santa reads their letters. And kids—address your letters to Santa Claus, Station WLEX, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

RADIO Personalities

LOUIE and his HUNGRY FIVE, popular WLEX feature, is the latest rage in Hawaiian radio circles . . . THOMAS McKNIGHT and A. E. SCOTT, authors of the "minute-dramas" of the Henry-George program, say that these "minute-dramas" are evolved from theatrical blackouts." They are selected from stories submitted by the company and are reduced to minute lengths . . . A burglar invaded the apartment of CAROLYN CORNELL, Radio Home-Makers' Club specialists, and all that he took was a china porcupine, the emblem of Louis XII—a high class burglar, wot? . . . Numerous suggestions for the betterment of programs are often contained in NBC fan mail. Officials have learned to estimate by this mail the extent and enthusiasm of an audience as accurately as a ship captain can foretell the weather by reading his barometer . . . Wallace Silversmiths' orchestra consists of light string instruments, five of which are played by men who are themselves soloists and orchestra leaders. In each number HARRY SALTER, the leader, conducts, he features a different instrument.

The Weather

For Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature; gentle to moderate south to southwest winds.

For Southern New England—Mostly cloudy and slightly warmer tonight; Saturday generally fair, slightly colder in west portion; moderate south shifting to west winds.

For Northern New England—Mostly cloudy tonight and Saturday, warmer tonight; colder in New Hampshire and Vermont Saturday; gentle variable winds becoming moderate and southwest.

Concerning Radio

Edited by BILL WHIPPLE

There come moments in our workaday life, and they recur frequently, when we wonder if radio editors serve any good purpose in the scheme of things. It is quite likely, too, that the same thought has occurred to you subscribers; just why is a radio editor.

Frankly, we are at a loss to answer it. It is one of the mysteries of life. The scribe of radio affairs flashes into view from the great unknown, blazes across the horizon for a brief period leaving a shower of printers-ink opinions, and then sinks into oblivion with the rest of the do-do's.

But even radio editors cannot subsist upon kilocycles and watts, they need substantial food occasionally; and it is far too draughty to winter beneath the elms alongside the Frog Pond of our beloved Boston Common. Therefore necessity develops into thought, thought develops into action and action results in a radio editor; and like it or not he's got to serve you a steaming dish of radio material every day.

All of which preamble naturally develops into the subject of bees—or does it? However, the bees have the floor and must be heard. Did you know that bees developed methods of radio communication countless centuries before the arrival of man on the planet. Seems to be a fact and we'll tell you about it.

Near a hive in his garden Dr. Leuenberg, a Swiss scientist, placed a saucer of sugared water, and soon saw a bee which, after sampling the drink, circled the hive several hundred times, evidently trying to show its companions it had made a discovery. Failing in that effort, the bee returned to the saucer and brought its wireless apparatus into play.

Between the last two rings of the bee's stomach a humid light appears whenever the insect wills it. And as soon as the bee sent out its message of wireless light, hundreds of bees flew to the spot in a few minutes to enjoy the feast.

And that, folks, will conclude the day's lesson in the fascinating study of beeology.

Radio News for Hockey Fans

The information has just reached us that hockey fans in Boston and New England will be served with play by play descriptions of all the out-of-town games played during the present season by the Boston Bruins, through arrangements just completed between the management of station WNAC and its network, and Charles F. Adams, president of the Bruins. This will be accomplished through Frank Ryan, popular hockey authority, telegraphing detailed descriptions of the out-of-town contests direct to the WNAC studio, where it will be broadcast.

If you dial in tonight on WEEI at 10:30 you will hear a very interesting program, when the RKO Theater of the Air come on with their entertainment. Besides other attractive features you will hear guest artists of vaudeville and screen fame, which includes the Brox Sisters, William Gaxton, late of "Fifty Million Frenchmen," Marion Harris and Jim McWilliams.

COMING OUT OF THE ether, . . . Broadway's latest find, Ethel Merman, the singing lady from "Girl Crazy," will do a turn before the mike on the Nestle's program over WBZA at 8 tonight. She will sing "When You're Smiling," "My Future Just Passed" and "Sing You Sinners" . . . Frank Moulan, Roxy's own "Gilbert and Sullivan" star, is featured on the "Garden of Melody" program, WNAC at 7 tonight. . . The bold bad Belle Baker, whose fame is known wherever there is vaudeville, will be starred on the Radio Follies program, WNAC at 10 tonight. . . And still the pathetic titles for the True Story program keep coming. Tonight's administration is known as "I Was Raised for the Marriage Market," WNAC at 9. . . For a long time we have been waiting for Billy Jones and Ernie Hare to strike a number which is just made for them, and it looks as though our waiting is at an end. Tonight the happy pair join in singing "I'm Wild About Hippopotamuses" on the Interwoven program, WBZA at 9. . . .

Government Should Lead

Taxes Must Be Kept Down

Congress should spare no effort at the Short Session to balance the budget without increasing taxes.

It is essential that the one per cent reduction in the Federal income tax now in effect should be continued, if that revival in business is to be encouraged which alone can end unemployment.

Faced with the certainty of a Treasury deficit and with the desirability of expediting and expanding its program of public works, Congress may well slow up the pace at which it has been retiring the war debt of this country.

Existing law commits the Treasury to retire four hundred million dollars of outstanding debt in the current fiscal year and about four hundred and fifteen million dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of next year.

Only sixty-five million dollars of debt has been retired this year because the Government has been unable to buy its own securities below par.

By authorizing the Treasury to suspend the sinking fund for the remainder of the present fiscal year, it is estimated that three hundred and thirty million dollars will be available for other purposes.

This would take care of the deficit. And if this is not also sufficient to continue in effect the one per cent reduction in taxes, Congress ought to find the way to do that by making whatever cut in expenditures is necessary.

Calvin Coolidge is not much given to prophecy. But he showed the courage to follow where the facts lead when he said the other day:

"The raw materials are at hand for an era of unprecedented prosperity. They only wait for the people to come forward to utilize them."

This the people will do when they can be confident of the stability of the present level of prices of raw materials.

Increasing taxation will disturb that stability and discourage confidence.

Keeping taxes down will help to stabilize prices, quicken confidence and hasten the return of prosperity.

Women Soldiers

Commander Kenworthy's Interesting Prophecy

Commander J. M. Kenworthy, Socialist member of the British Parliament, gives men and women food for thought in his book, "New Wars, New Weapons," just out.

Here is a sample:

"The enrollment of women in the next war, if it comes, is inevitable. The athletic young woman of today can fly an airplane, fire a machine-gun, or release a poison-gas cylinder just as well as a man.

"An aerial army instead of obsolete warships will have the advantage that it will involve women on almost equal terms with men. The women might just as well take the risk in the air as to wait for the inevitable bombing which they will encounter if they remain in cities."

Women have fought in wars from the days of the Amazons to those of the Battalion of Death. But nobody took them seriously as long as warfare consisted of hand-to-hand encounters where brute strength was the main consideration.

Now that we kill by chemistry, an intelligent woman is as effective as a man. Also, if women take part on a large scale in the next war, they will make the last look like a picnic.

When they put their minds to it, the females of the species are far more merciless than the males. If you doubt it, read "The Bacchae," by Euripides, and learn something.

The 'Amateur' Racket

Bobby Jones Shows It Up

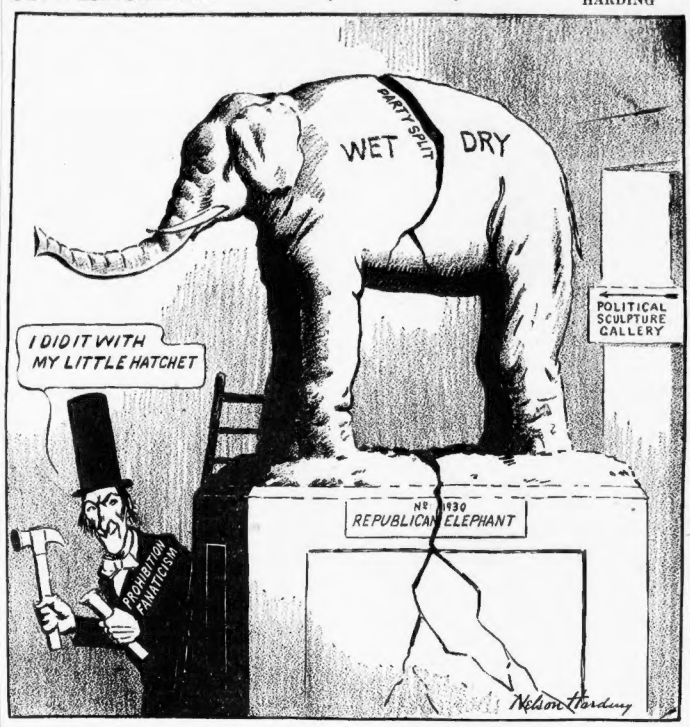

Bobby Jones is a gentleman as well as a golfer. This fact, admitted in the past, is now clinched by his decision to quit the amateur field. Bobby is going into the films. He will make twelve pictures for $100,000 or more. Though this might not violate the rules governing amateur competition, he feels that it is contrary to the spirit of amateur sport. Therefore he will get out.

By refusing to quibble over technicalities, Mr. Jones sets an example that famous amateurs in most sports might well follow. Feeling is general in this country that many amateur stars "get theirs" in one way or another, and that the label of amateur is a mere pretense by which they make a comfortable living and obtain much gratifying publicity while doing it. As Vincent Richards remarked when he went professional, the only important difference thereafter would be that he could take his pay openly instead of in the thinly camouflaged form in which many so-called amateurs took it. Most people agreed with him.

Mr. Jones, by sacrificing his amateur status, may cease now to be known as "Mr." That will not hurt him with anybody that matters. The public is fed up with the sham of amateurism; it respects an out-and-out professional more than a disguised one. Though Bobby may not be an out-and-out professional, he will at least not sail under false colors. There are few prominent "amateurs" today who can say as much.

UNWISECRACK

By NELSON HARDING

Extensive damage plainly show'd
The idol has received a knock
That split it with the rending force
And power of an earthquake shock.

Who struck that breaking blow that made
The unwise crack? If you can't guess,
The ruthless party lurking near
Is proud and happy to confess.

Listen, World!—No Room

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Where Do We Go From Here?

I SAW an amazing contraption the other day. It was a piece of furniture, occupying a space hardly three feet square. Yet in that small space there were combined a dresser, wardrobe, writing desk, shoe box, book niche and a rack for afternoon tea service. Everything but a bathtub, and doubtless that will have been added by the time this goes to press.

Elsie Robinson

"It's the latest thing," they said. "You'll see pieces like this everywhere. It's taking the place of the old fashioned stuff. No more room for that any more. Rents are so high and, besides, people don't like to be bothered with a lot of elaborate housekeeping."

All true—and I knew it, as you do. But it set me wondering. There stood something more than a bundle of wood, paint and steel. There stood the symbol of a new order of things and of a home that fitted that new order of things. WHAT SORT OF A HOME WAS IT GOING TO BE? Was it going to be any sort of a home at all, judged by our old standards? Or just a parking place, with the family needs served elsewhere?

Remember what family life used to be, 20 years ago? Sitting around the living room lamp at night—dad reading his newspaper, mother sewing, you kids working picture puzzles. You tell your children now, that you did that because you "loved your home." But that isn't exactly true. You sat around home, partly because there was room to sit—partly because there wasn't any other place to go. Now there are scores of other places to go—movies, skating rinks, lectures, dances, shows, wrestling matches, pee-wee golf. Would YOU have stayed home at 18 if there had been such outside diversions? Or if home had been a cramped modern apartment? I wonder.

But it's no use wondering. We can't turn the clock back. Pee-wee golf and pee-wee apartments are with us. And the living room is no longer back of the front door—IT IS OUT ON THE STREET. Well—is that altogether a catastrophe? There was plenty of beauty in the old home life, but there was plenty of sluggishness and smugness and stupidity, too. "Home Sweet Home" made a pretty song but an ugly reality, often.

Nor is this change happening only in America. It's the same in England, in Germany—all over Europe. Some nations view it with alarm—fight against it. Others accept it as inevitable. Russia welcomes it—says that the old home life blocked progress—allows so many square feet of living space for each individual and penalizes persons who use more. That shocks us. We wouldn't pass such laws. Yet actually we are doing just what the Russians are doing—shrinking our homes—going elsewhere for the companionship, amusement and education the home once provided. No use denying it—hiding our heads in the sands of sentimentality and saying it isn't so. The old-fashioned family life is disappearing—we're leaving our homes as once we left trees for caves, as once we left caves for tents, and tents for houses. . . . For we're always leaving somewhere, we humans, and going somewhere else. And now we're on the trek again. WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

Some Thoughts While Strolling

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—Thoughts on strolling: Wonder how many fingernails a window cleaner breaks in a year? Ex-Ambassador Gerard's short neck. Those newsboy guys who screech "Famous Movie Star—" and trail off into unintelligible mumble. Vincent Lopez has grown becomingly thinner.

Frank Sullivan, a Saratoga Springs, N. Y., boy, who made good in the city. I always glance at auto licenses in secret hope of spotting No. 1. Those mean tempered cops who pop out of bushes to frighten little boys on park grass. Edgar Sahus' daughter—Mrs. Mund.

Mandolins are staging a comeback. A cafe and night club feature mandolin bands. Cheerful souls who auto-bus it from the west coast. Theodore Dreiser's perpetual glumness. Underworld for growing prosperous: "He's on the gain!" A Broadway orchestra called: "Al Katz and His Kittens."

Those interesting pictures in Pirie MacDonald's sidewalk cabinet. Few wear clothes like Peggy Hoyt. Hugh O'Connell, the actor. Haberdashery window card: "Sober-hued Hose Pour Gents." Ben Hollzman is always in a rush. Richard Le Gallienne in town from Paris.

Prim ladies gazing at travel posters wistfully. Burlesque banner: "Forty Torrid Teasers." Never hear of girls hurling vitriol any more. O, sole mia—purple velvet pajamas. Can't find black pumpernickel in this town. It is all blonde sissy stuff. Clifton Webb's pleated pants.

* * *

Nobody seems to use the word "succinctly" in conversation. But writers run it raggedly. The apple-cheeked octogenarian who has eaten three raw onions a day for 20 years—the odoriferous old dodo. Money in the beauty parlor business. Look at their establishments.

Who'll buy the rope for the bird who perpetrates those French quotations in cigarette ads? One of the Warner brothers—Jack, I think. The grey of a winter twilight, lustrous with shafts of pink. Few look out an L. train windows. They stare straight ahead.

* * *

Kelcey Allen, impassioned first nighter and dramatic critic of Women's Wear, salvaged his writing name out of Broadway's panorama of lights. One night he saw the names of Herbert Kelcey and Viola Allen—and voila!

* * *

Suggestion for a modern Broadway novel: "Who's Knifing Who?"

* * *

And a new play dealing with White Way life is to be called: "Monkeys & Maggots."

* * *

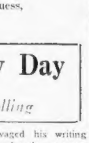

Central Park may have a Rotten Row, like that of London Hyde Park, and the most famous horseback ath in the world. London's busiest men, from King George down, take a pre-breakfast canter daily. Central Park's bridle path is nothing at which to hoot, but is not comparable to Rotten Row. The park commissioner — Duke Herrick—has been on the other side studying the outlay and especially the soil mixture that gives such a noiseless softness.

* * *

Most Central Park riders are middle aged. On Rotten Row there are innumerable children, shepherded by watchful grooms, and riding superbly.

* * *

Book publishers have been unable, despite innumerable precautions, to bring out a book entirely free of grammatical and typographical mistakes. The average tome will present more than 150 "bulls." One of Conrad's totaled more than 400 and an early volume by H. G. Wells had 110 embarrassing errors. Some books are proof-read by three different experts.

But mistakes creep in. The Bible, due to many printings and corrective measures, is about the only perfect book typographically.

Our efficient colored servant Harry this morning announced a gentleman was waiting to see me. I inquired the name. "I didn't catch it," he replied, "but he looks out-of-town."

"You are not the wall flower I supposed" writes Mrs. X. "You danced with a different lady every dance where I saw you the other night."

Yes mam, they claimed every set off of me.

Think It Over

Drawn by Hal Coffman

The motorist takes good care of his car, as a rule. He spends his Sunday morning tinkering with it, or takes it to a garage for adjustment and repair. A car is a complicated piece of machinery, and needs attention if it is to run smoothly.

The human body is an infinitely more complicated piece of machinery. Yet how few of us give it as much care as we give our cars. Only when it develops a cough, a rattle or a squeak do we haul it to the repair shop or send out an SOS for a "mechanic."

Man is a funny animal. He will spend time and money patching up a machine worth a few hundred dollars, and often neglects completely the human machine—which is a million times more valuable and delicate, and which, when it is scrapped, he can't replace.

Hiram W. Ricker

New England Loses Splendid Citizen

Hiram W. Ricker made the world a better place in which to live. His tremendous energy was being expended for the advancement of Maine and New England to the very moment when death called him.

He was an advocate of high wages. He conceived the good roads policy of Maine. He helped to organize the public health service.

He had an unshakable faith in his native territory and the vision and the strength to promote its assets in order that its natural gifts and benefits might be widely enjoyed and diffused.

In 1923, after seeing the results accomplished by the publicity bureau in his own well-loved State of Maine, he conceived the idea that all New England might well benefit to the same extent if co-operation of the six States could be obtained. Starting as a labor of love, he succeeded in getting the six governors and leading men of the states together at Poland Spring. The New England Council is the result.

The world has lost a fine and generous character and we salute his memory.

Mr. Robart's Opportunity

New Head of Necessities Commission

Ralph W. Robart, a young man whose record of public service is thus far commendable, has been chosen by Governor Allen to be director of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life. This Commission, when Eugene C. Hultman and Former Mayor Adams of Melrose were at its head, rendered distinguished service in preventing the people of Massachusetts from being exploited by the selfish and greedy too eager to capitalize their control over the prices of the things which people must buy to live. Robart succeeds to the fine heritage of their public service and in a period of our economic life when the public may need from him a service more courageous and discerning than ever before. The Commission has been relegated recently to an inferior position in our State government, but it can be as strong and effective or as weak and pusillanimous as Robart himself makes it.
